REPUBLICANS ARE TO FIGHT TARIFF

Senator Lafollette Plans to Speak for One Week on Amendments

ALTERATIONS WOULD COMPRISE NEW BILL

Secretary McAdoo Makes Offer to Issue Currency Up to Limit

COMPLETE SURPRISE IN FINANCE DISTRICT

Washington, D. C., June 12.—Republican leaders in the senate are preparing for their fight against the Democratic tariff bill now being rounded into shape for debate. Senator Penrose, Republican member of the finance committee, is to lead the opposition on the floor after the bill is reported.
Senator Smith, of Michigan, is to lead
the fight against the sugar schedule,
and Senator Smoot, of Utah, will command the anti-free wool debate.

Senator Lafollette, who has amendments which amount practically to a new bill, plans to make a speech that will extend over a week. The minority members of the finance committee are already at work on their report.

Majority members of the finance committee continued to-day their consideration of sub-committee changes in the Underwood bill, resuming discussion of the metal schedule. It was reported that the sub-committee, in addition to putting pig iron and ferro manganese on the free list, had also transferred steel ingots and billets to the free list because the House had put steel rails in the undutiable class.

Free raw wool immediately and free sugar in three years, as endorsed by President Wilson and adopted by the House, were approved to-day by the majority members of the senate finance committee. The action scheduling the administration in both schedules was taken after amendments to alter them had been voted down.

Secretary McAdoo said to-day that his statement announcing that $500,- 000,000 of emergency currency would be forthcoming should banks need it, was made in response to numerous inquiries from bankers who were anxious to know whether additional currency would be available for crop movements.

The treasury department, it was stated to-day, had been informed by bankers within the last few weeks that some stringency might be experienced in moving the crops. If they had assurance that relief could be had under the provision of the Aldrich-Vreeland Act they would be able to meet the situation and it would be of great value to them generally if they were informed now of the department's attitude.

New York, June 12.—Secretary Mc-Adoo's overnight offer to issue emergency currency up to the limit of the government's resources, completely surprised the financial district. None of the bankers would express an opinion on the subject but it was clear that the secretary's announcement was interpreted, even before his explanatory statement of to-day, as an act to reassure the legitimate interests of the country, especially those of a mercantile and industrial character.

Local bankers believe that the offer
will have the effect of releasing large amounts of time money, in which a severe stringency was threatening. No later than yesterday over-year money
was utterly lacking in this market,
while the rates for four, five and six months hardened perceptibly.

One effect of the proposed measure was a sharp rally in stocks to-day and stock exchange houses represented a better investment demand than at any time since the recent depression. No small part of the inquiry came from out-of-town sources, where the effect of Secretary McAdoo's announcement appears to have been received with greater encouragement than in local circles.

HIGH TEMPERATURES OVER PRAIRIE WEST

Winnipeg, June 12.—Intense heat pre-valled yesterday over most of the Canadian prairie west, the highest temperatures prevailing in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Swan River recorded 101 and Mooseomin 100 in the shade, while temperatures around 90 are pretty general. Alberta, from Calgary north, and northern Saskatchewan escaped with comparatively cool weather, between 70 and 80. Most of the spring wheat country reports
abundance of moisture in the ground and these torrid conditions will produce a hot house growth.

MANY WANT HIM.

London, June 12.—The Ontario settler who wrote to the Bury St. Edmunds guardians, asking them to find him a wife will shortly receive 116 unopened replies.

BLOW ON NOSE IS ENOUGH FOR I. W. W.

Port Angeles Commercial Club
Sends Agitators Out of Their Town

SECOND TIME THEIR EFFORTS MISCARRIED

Port Angeles, Wash., June 12.—Two
I. W. W. were shipped out of town yesterday afternoon. They were taken to the wharf, their tickets bought, and placed aboard the boat with instructions not to come back. One of the men drew a knife when first caught,
but a prompt blow on the nose quickly changed his mind in that respect. He refused to go to the dock or aboard the boat without being forced by the committee. At 2 p. m. a meeting of the Commercial club was called and a committee appointed to see that the agitators left town. The meeting adjourning at 2.30 and within twenty minutes the agitators were both on the boat with orders not to come back if they valued their health. One of them attempted to make a speech after he was placed on board the boat, but he was quickly silenced.

This is the second time that these men have come to grief in Port Angeles. The first time was when they attempted to stir up trouble among the workers at the new Hales mill, about a week ago. At that time they were dropped into the bay by the workers
at the mill.

TO RAISE NEARLY MILLION AND HALF

Opponents of Church Union Plan Campaign and to Print Newspaper

Toronto, Ont., June 12.—At the meeting of the Presbyterian General Assembly this morning it was decided that the attempt should be made in 1914 to secure the sum of $1,400,000 for the purposes of the church. This would provide $700,000 for home missions, $375,000 for foreign missions, and $325,000 for evangelism, including the work in the congested portions of the large cities with smaller sums for other purposes.

Winnipeg ministers wished to add another $100,000 so that ample provision might be made for social service work, but the assembly would not agree. Last year the general finance board secured only $675,000, but it was not properly organized for the undertaking. By resolution this morning Rev. Dr. A. S. Grant was made the executive officer of the finance board.

The opponents of church union in the Presbyterian church held a meeting in St. Andrews church last night, and organized for an aggressive campaign. It was stated that three very wealthy Presbyterians had undertaken to finance the undertaking, and that a weekly paper would be started. That remnant would continue the Presbyterian name in Canada.

JAPANESE SEIZE AN AMERICAN YACHT

Tokio, June 12.—The American yacht Columbia was seized yesterday when she put into Wakayama, which is not an open port, for repairs. She was on a voyage from Nagasaki to Yokohama.

A steel yacht belonging to J. Harvey Ladew, of the New York Yacht Club, which left for a cruise in Oriental waters in November, 1912, is believed to be the vessel whose arrest at Wakayama, Japan, is reported in a cable dispatch.

The detention of the vessel was probably brought about owing to her entering a port where there was no customs house or quarantine station. A similar course is taken by the authorities of any other country under like circumstances.

FISHER MINISTRY IS TO RESIGN THURSDAY

Melbourne, June 12.—The counting of the federal election figures has sufficiently advanced to indicate that the Liberals possess a bare majority. In view of this fact the Fisher government will resign probably on Thursday. The situation is complicated, and there is likely to be another election shortly, for it will hardly be possible to carry on with the strong Labor majority in the senate, pledged only to pass legislation approved by the party.

MECHANICS IN CONVENTION.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 12.—That American railroads have kept pace with the world in the installation of safety devices, was the declaration yesterday of President D. P. Crawford at the opening of the master mechanics' convention being held in connection with the American Railroad Congress. Every important line in the United States, Canada and Mexico is represented and Australia has sent a delegate.

RESTORING PEACE AMONG THE MOROS

Sultan of Jolo Beaten in Battle With American Troops
To-day

SIX WERE KILLED TWELVE WOUNDED

General Wood Asks for Report on Operations in Archipelago

WASHINGTON STAFF IS MUCH DISTURBED

Manila, June 12.—The entrenchments of the rebellious Moros under the Sultan of Jolo at Bagsag were taken by the American forces to-day after a fierce battle, in which the American casualties were six killed and twelve wounded. The killed were two privates of Company M., Eighth U. S.
Infantry, three members of the Fifty-
First Company of scouts, and one member of the Twenty-Ninth Company of Scouts. Lieut. Edwin H.
Rackley was wounded in the leg.

The casualties are regarded as few in view of the stubborn resistance of the Moros. The attacking forces had been made unusually strong as a precaution, there being in addition to the company of regular infantry, a troop
of cavalry, seven companies of scouts,
two companies of constabulary with a battery of four mountain guns and a machine gun platoon.

The main position of the Moros was taken. Although there remains one point still occupied in the mountains,
the mountain guns will be in a position to shell it easily. Brigadier-General John J. Pershing, commander of the department of Mindanao, who led the forces, declares he will continue operations in Jolo until all the tribes-men's guns have been taken, and the island is wholly peaceful.

Washington, D. C., June 12.—General
Wood has cabled to Major-General
Bell, commanding the Philippine division, for an immediate report on the operations Brigadier-General Pershing is conducting against the Moros in the Jolo archipelago.

The war department knows nothing of the details of the operations, as General Pershing had been given a free hand to deal with the problem of disarming the Moros in his own way,
and the distance from Tambonga, the Jolo capital, to Manila, is so great and the communications so uncertain that reports from the scene are very meagre.

The general staff is considerably disturbed by the mention of the Sultan of Jolo as leading the hostile forces, for it had been understood that he had thrown his influence with the Americans in the disarmament programme.

LAKE KENAI GIVES OFF NATURAL GAS

Excitement at Seward When Test Causes Twenty-Four Hours Flame

Seward, Alaska, June 12.—Great excitement was occasioned here yesterday with the announcement of the discovery of natural gas in Lake Kenai.
The bubbles were noticed coming from the water, and Andrew Simon, who made an investigation, discovered the gas by its odor. A box was laid with a funnel and gas jet and filled with the gas. On ignition the gas burned for 24 hours.

The water is 20 feet deep and a 14-inch pipe will be sunk in an attempt to arrest the escape of the gas. The scene of the discovery is one mile opposite Mile 18, on the Alaska Northern railroad.

GRAND VIZIER BURIED WHERE SOLDIERS FELL

Constantinople, June 12.—The assassinated grand vizier, Mahmud Shekifet Pasha, was buried this morning in the mausoleum situated on the Hill of Liberty, in the outskirts of the Turkish capital. On this hill many of his soldiers fell while he was leading them
in the operations against Constantinople
April, 1910, when the old sultan, Abdul Hamid, was deposed.

The funeral ceremony was carried out with great pomp, most of the garrison of the city participating.

BANKERS' MEETING.

Ottawa, Ont., July 12.—Men who control millions of money and direct the great banking and financial interests of the state of New York, are assembled in Ottawa to-day at the annual convention of the New York State Bankers' Association. The attendance is upwards of four hundred.

CHOLERA OUTBREAK AMONG BULGARIAN TROOPS ASSISTS EFFORTS FOR PEACE

KING OF SERBIA

TETE JAUNE CACHE CONDITIONS BETTER

Biggest Flood Tide Occurred
Just Nineteen Years Ago
From Same Cause

RIVER ROSE OVER TWENTY-FIVE FEET

Tete Jaune Cache, June 12.—The flood of the Fraser river here was caused by the late and sudden advent of warm weather. The snow is melting rapidly in the mountains and it is feared that with the tremendous volumes of water that will rush down
the Fraser, the low-lying lands on the lower stretches of the river will be inundated. Conditions are somewhat better here to-day.

It is interesting to note in connection with the recent spring-tide season that it is only owing to the continued cool weather in the interior and northern parts of the province that flood-tides have not been experienced, as the snowfall throughout British Columbia
during the past winter was unusually heavy, and any rapid thaw would have brought down more waters than the narrow channels of the rivers could carry with safety.

It is almost nineteen years ago since
one of the biggest flood tides ever recorded in the province took place from just such a cause, the year 1894 being conspicuous for the abnormally heavy snowfall which began melting rapidly
about the end of May, and, by June 5,
had added to the waters of the Fraser
to such an extent that on that date a tide of 25 feet, 2 inches, was recorded at Mission Bridge. Just a short distance above New Westminster.

Other memorable flood tides which have taken place at this season of the year in the Fraser valley from similar causes were in 1882, on June 14 23 feet,
10 inches being reported at Mission
Bridge; on June 23, 1876, when 22 feet,
9 inches were recorded; on June 18,
1868, 22 feet, 6 inches; on July 9, 1896, 21 feet, 9 inches; on June 27, 1900, 21
feet, 1 inch; and on June 15, 1908, 20 feet. An average flood tide for the last thirty years has been worked out to be in the neighborhood of 19 feet at this point, and although this year, like last, has been conspicuous up to the present by an absence of flooding, it has been due to the non-synchronous
of the two necessary elements at the time of the spring tides, viz., high temperatures following deep snowfall
during the winter months. Within a few days the full moon will be reached,
when the second movement of the spring tides will set in. Should a drop occur in the temperatures in the northern and interior mountain regions in the meantime, it is possible that the undesirable features of previous years
may take place.

OFFICERS OF SONS OF ENGLAND COME WEST

Winnipeg, June 12.—E. A. Miller, of Elma, Ont., supreme president, and John W. Carter, of Toronto, Ontario, supreme secretary of the Sons of England, are here on their way west to the convention of the Sons of England, to be held at a banquet next Wednesday at which Premier Roblin, Mayor Deacon and a number of public men will be present.

POPE SEES PICTURES.

Rome, June 12.—A moving picture machine was set up in the consistorial
hall of the Vatican to-day and Pope Pius X. enjoyed a view of many interesting scenes. He watched the passing show with animation and at the end called attention to the progress of science which permitted the unfolding
of the wonders of the world before even a prisoner like himself.

Intervention of Russia Now Acceptable to Serbia and Her Opponent

PEACE OF EUROPE IS NOW VERY PROBABLE

Troops at Serres and Demir-hissar Are Affected by Dread Scourge

CIVIL POPULATION IS ALSO SUFFERING

St. Petersburg, June 12.—That war in Europe will be averted, and that peace will soon reign in place of the threatening clouds which have overhung the continent during the past week is now believed certain here, for it is reported that both Serbia and Bulgaria have agreed to accept the arbitration of Russia in the dispute over which they are engaged. The dispute is one over the territory acquired by the disputants during the course of the recent Balkan war.

A fact which may have had something to do with the Bulgarians reaching a desire for mediation by Russia,
is the report which is now spreading that an outbreak of the dreaded cholera has occurred among the Bulgarian troops. It is thought that the officials were trying to keep this secret while negotiations are pending with Serbia,
so as not to weaken their position, but it having become public sooner than anticipated the Bulgarians are now ready to treat.

The particular outbreak which is known to be very severe, is among the troops at Serres and Demirhissar,
where large numbers of Bulgarians
are in encampment under poor sanitary conditions. The report contains the information that the outbreak of cholera is bad, and has spread to the civilian population at Serres.

Speculations are being taken by the Greeks to prevent the disease from spreading into their territories.
Russia's intervention by the word of the Czar, together with the modification counsel urged by Germany, and particularly the announcement from Paris that the French government would not finance the combatants should war occur, have apparently had the desired effect, and war between Bulgaria and Serbia is to-day believed to be very remote.

Belgrade, June 12.—The Serbian government sent a note to the Bulgarian government to-day proposing that three-fourths of the armies of Bulgaria and Serbia be demobilized to relieve the existing tension and to facilitate a settlement of the differences between the two governments.

London, June 12.—Sir Edward Grey,
the British foreign secretary, speaking in the House of Commons to-day, expressed the hope that both Bulgaria and Serbia would accept the offer of Russian arbitration. He said it was impossible to express too strongly the feelings of disappointment and disapproval the outbreak of a war between the Balkan allies would cause. It would be continued, alienate the sympathy of Europe and involve the risk to the Balkan states of losing all they had gained in the war with Turkey.

ARGENTINA TO HEAR COLONEL ROOSEVELT

Packing Company Heads in South America Resent Being Called "The Trust"

Buenos Ayres, June 12.—It was announced here to-day that Theodore Roosevelt is coming to Argentina to lecture on the progress of the United States.

New York, June 12.—Col. Roosevelt's private secretary to-day confirmed the report that the colonel contemplates a trip to Argentina, but added that the details had not been settled. Present plans call for his departure this morning.

"That's all we care to say about it
now," said the secretary.
Buenos Ayres, June 12.—The American meat packing companies operating in Argentina are not considered a "trust" by the Argentine government.
The minister of agriculture replying today to a note sent to the government
by six of the leading Anglo-Argentine chilled beef companies protesting against what they called "the trust,"
said: "After investigation the government considers that it is not called on to modify the existing regime of liberty which permits the development of industry in Argentina."

WADSWORTH SEAT ELECTION TO-DAY

Contests Due Soon to Fill the Vacancies at Dover and Leister

London, June 12.—Considering the thunder now prevalent in the general political atmosphere, and the fact that Wadsworth division of South London possesses 40,000 electors, polling to-day in the by-election is proceeding under the quietest conditions. The last Unionist majority was nearly 5,000, the present Tory nominee is opposed by Havelock Wilson, the seamen's leader,
who runs as an independent candidate,
and has not therefore the benefit of the official Liberal organization.

Elections are pending in Dover to fill the place of George Wyndham, where the Unionists hope to secure his son Percy as his successor; and in Leister,
where the Liberal member, Crawshaw Williams, who has been political private secretary to Lloyd George and Winston Churchill, has resigned
through being concerned in a forthcoming divorce suit.

The resigning member writes: "Perhaps it is a pity that circumstances which do nothing to impair political capacity should be able to interfere in political activity, but I am well aware of the state of the feeling prevailing in this country on these matters."

HUNDRED AND SIXTY DEPORTED FROM CAMP

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 12.—Of the 1,200 men who went on strike at the railroad construction camp near Tucker, Tuesday night, for increased pay and better working conditions, 160
were deported from the camp this morning and the others resumed work.
Included in those who were deported
were sixty organizers of the I. W. W.
The strikers have been forced to sleep
in the open for two nights and have been without food for practically two days. This had a quieting effect on a majority of the men, and they decided this morning to withdraw their demands and return to work.

LAUGHING GAS MAKES CARSON'S TONGUE FREE

Stockton, Cal., June 12.—"Silent" Carson, under sentence of death for murder, and whose execution has been stayed several times because of fear
in the minds of the authorities that he might be insane, has broken his long silence. While undergoing treatment at a hospital here for an old gunshot wound, Carson, who long has professed inability to talk, was given laughing gas. At once his tongue was loosed and he prattled like a child, but the answer he made to questions were vague and incoherent.

The hospital authorities say the test threw no light on the question of his sanity.

SHUSWAP LAND IS OPENED FOR ENTRY

First Applicant Camped June 4 Outside Dominion Office at Salmon Arm

SOME SECURED PLUMS OTHERS TOOK CHANCES

Perfect Order Among Many Who Waited Patiently for Opening of Office

OVER TWO HUNDRED APPLICANTS ATTEND

Chase, B. C., June 12.—Good order and the best of humor prevailed among the 218 applicants for homesteads on the sidewalk in front of the sub-agency of Dominion Lands at Salmon Arm on Monday morning at 9 o'clock
where the lands in the Shuswap division of the railway belt were thrown open for entry.

In spite of the rush to get in on what was perhaps the best remaining homestead opportunity on the North American continent, the majority of the applicants got the land of their first choice. Some got plums of the biggest and most luscious variety. One man got a quarter section that an investor would be glad to get for $5,000.
Some strangers picked out vacant quarters on the map and paid their $10
on a chance, taking the risk of being able to reach it without an aeroplane.
One man who came out was asked by a friend if he had got what he wanted and answered: "Not just yet.
I've got to go and make a raise," and held up five fingers to signify that he had to secure $500 for improvements on the place.

It had been advertised that the first man at the counter for any particular homestead would get the land. The first applicant arrived with his roll of blankets on the previous Wednesday, June 5, and pre-empted sleeping space
on the sidewalk in front of the office.
By Saturday night more than sixty were taking the open-air treatment in the street and lots near the office.
The first-comers agreed to number themselves according to the order of their arrival. The later recruits all consented to this arrangement.

On Monday morning at 9 o'clock all took position in line according to the numbers they held. W. C. Cowell, Dominion land agent for the Kamloops district, gave to each in order a slip containing his number in the rotation,
and his assistant followed with a book
in which each applicant signed opposite
the number he had been assigned.
These numbers indicated the order in which the holders would be admitted to the counter.

It was about half-past nine when number one was admitted and when the office closed for the day number ninety-nine had filed his entry. This was making better time than had been expected, about seventy per day having been the estimate.

The most of the land-seekers came from the office looking as pleased as anyone might who had received a thousand dollars for ten. Whether they had been successful or not there were no exceptions to the general appreciation of the courtesy and fairness of the officials.

FESTIVAL BALL AT PORTLAND TO-NIGHT

Portland, Ore., June 12.—With a guard of honor composed of the Knights of the Rose from Pasadena,
the Royal Oaks from Oakland, the Tillikums from Seattle, the horse and vehicle parade which in past years has been the most beautiful of all the festival parades, will take place. The entries this year, it is stated, are more numerous than last year and the festival management is authority for the statement that it will excel similar parades of previous seasons.

The evening feature will be the festival ball, at which Rex Oregonus will reveal his identity. This is a variation from the custom hitherto, when the King unmasked at the close of the festivities on the last night.

WEALTHY SWISS LOSE ALL INTEREST IN LIFE

Zurich, Switzerland, June 12.—Eugene Maggi and his wife, believed to be the wealthiest persons in Switzerland, committed suicide to-day, being actuated
by sheer lack of interest in life.
Eugene Maggi was only forty-one years old and his wife 35. The joint estate of man and wife were estimated some time ago at $10,000,000, while quite recently Maggi inherited a large income. The couple had been married for a number of years but were greatly disappointed by their childless union. Last night in a fit of despondency they decided to end their lives.
They retired to the bedroom, turned on the gas, and were found dead in the morning.

CHURCH UNION PASSES ASSEMBLY BY VOTE OF OVER THREE TO ONE

Consummation Anticipated by Well Informed Members at-Toronto General Assembly Yesterday Not Later Than 1915

Toronto, Ont., June 12.—The debate on the question of church union in the Presbyterian General Assembly was finally concluded yesterday, and the determining vote was taken. The commissioners present were more than three to one for, than those against, being 179 to 54.

The cleavage in the Presbyterian church appears clear and distinct. "We have come to the parting of the ways," said Rev. Dr. James Ross, of London, during the discussion.

"The time has come," he continued, "when the Presbyterian body must count the cost. We must prepare for inevitable loss and separation. The motion which we propose to pass will do two things. It will assure the majority that we are in earnest and will assure the minority that we are in earnest. It will make it clear to those who have threatened continued opposition, that we are not to be overruled."

The declaration of the Assembly was in the following words: "That in view of the large majority in our own church voting in favor of organic union and the practically unanimous favorable vote in the other negotiating churches, and in view of the desire of all sections of our church that the spirit of unity which obtains between the churches may be continued and deepened, and in view of the strength of the minority in our own church which has not approved of organic union as the best method of expressing the unity of spirit which is rapidly growing in the Churches of Christ; and in view of the desirability of the utmost unanimity of action within our own church, this committee proceeded to consider the suggestions and alternatives submitted to it, and recommends to the General Assembly as follows:

1. That the Assembly assure the other negotiating churches that the Presbyterian Church fully realizes its share of responsibility in the present movement and earnestly desires that the spirit of unity which has given rise to it may be conserved and deepened, and asks the other churches to continue the negotiations in the hope that union may be consummated without delay.

2. That the union committee be continued, and that the fullest and fairest consideration be given to every aspect of the question, that further amendments to the present basis of union and alternative proposals be invited from Presbyterians and from sessions, congregations and individuals throughout the Presbyteries, and referred to this committee in order that after considering them, it may enter into conference with the committees of other negotiating churches with the view of settling before our people a final presentation of the question for their judgment.

3. That in order to secure the final judgment of the church, the findings of the joint committee of the negotiating churches on all such proposals be sent to Presbyteries and congregations, with the details of the vote already taken and all other relevant information."

These paragraphs are, to a large extent, just as they were when they were submitted to the Assembly by the majority of the union committee. The only alteration which was regarded as an important one, was one suggested by Rev. David Christie, of Winnipeg. Mr. Christie moved that the words,

"In the hope that union may be consummated with no unnecessary delay," be inserted instead of the phrase which was in its place when the report of the union committee was brought in. He said it was desirable that the expression should be made much stronger, and the Assembly agreed with him.

Later on in the discussion, November 20, of the present year, was fixed as the last day on which any suggestions would be received with reference to changes in the basis of union.

The procedure of the church in the future in the matter of securing actual union, as explained by Rev. Dr. Ramsay, of Ottawa, will be as follows:

"Up to the end of November, clerks of Presbyteries throughout the Dominion will receive any suggestions with reference to changes in the basis of church union. In December the union committee will meet in Toronto, and after full consideration of all the proposals received, the basis of union, a joint meeting will be held of the three union committees. These will agree on a basis, and the matter will then be ready for submission to the General Assembly in 1914. That assembly will send the matter to the members of the churches if this is deemed desirable for a vote, and to the Presbyteries of the churches under the Barrier Act. If a majority of the Presbyteries take favorable action, the union will be consummated in 1915."

As the mind of the church on the question is now fully known, it does not appear that there will be any failure in this programme. Before the final motion was carried to-day a number of amendments were withdrawn or voted down.

Rev. John McNeill, of Walmer Road Baptist church, Toronto, known as "John the Baptist," formerly of the First Baptist church of Winnipeg, in an address conveyed to the Presbyterian General Assembly the cordial fraternal greetings of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec.

Other churches which sent their greetings to the assembly were the Waldensian church of Italy, and the General Synod of the Reformed church of America. Rev. R. D. Pierre, of Montreal, who appeared for the Waldensian church, said that Canada would soon have half a million Italians. He stated that a reformation was near at hand in Italy, and reviewed the long struggle of the Waldensians for religious freedom.

The forenoon was occupied by the assembly in considering applications from ministers from other churches to be received into the communion. Principal Baird, of Manitoba college, supported an overture asking that assistant ministers in large city churches should be constituent members of the Presbytery.

The best informed in the assembly anticipate that the union will be consummated in 1915.

There will be some loss to the Presbyterian church. This is estimated at five to fifteen per cent. The minority are said to expect that the courts will give it a large proportion of the property of the church as the privy council in England did in the case of the "Wee Free" of the Old Land.

The highest legal counsel in Canada has, however, assured the unionists that they can be fully protected against contingencies of this kind in Canada.

LOGGING CAMPS WILL CLOSE DOWN JUNE 28

Washington Mills Suspension
Ten to Thirty Days is Annual Event

Seattle, June 12.—Logging camps throughout Western Washington will be closed down June 28 for periods ranging from ten to thirty days. This shut-down is of annual recurrence, due to the observance of the Fourth of July holiday each year by the employees in the various camps and the natural desire on the part of the workmen to enjoy a period of recreation during mid-summer.

Several logging camps in Whatcom county closed down yesterday for an indefinite period. In these camps, the output was furnished to mills owned by the timberland owners. In logging camps engaged in selling logs in the open market, June 28 has been fixed as the date of the annual close of midsummer operations.

Notice of the impending shut down had been given all over Western Washington by logging operators and the result was a brief but desperate attempt of L. W. W. leaders to make the final showing of strength in the "strike" called last week. The attempt was abortive.

A few men in Camp No. 2 of the Phoenix Logging Company, at Pottlatch, quit work and came to Seattle to get their pay. These men, voiced no complaint, but several of them explained that, inasmuch as the "Won't Work" agitators had tried repeatedly to cause trouble in the woods and as the logging companies were wont to close down their camps, they determined to avoid complications and the ill favor of being classed as "Won't Workers" by quitting independently.

FRANCE NOT SUSPICIOUS OF THE NEW FRIENDSHIP

Which is Growing Between Great Britain and Germany;
Entente Cordiale Firm

(Special Correspondence.)

London, May 28.—Although the German capital is waxing enthusiastic over the visit of the King and Queen and the Tsar, the public display of festivity will be far more pronounced on the coming celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the accession of the German Emperor. It is not certain yet how the representation of foreign royalty will be provided for, but as was the case on the Jubilee of Queen Victoria invitations will certainly be issued, although in accordance with custom the actual reigning heads of houses do not attend. Hence King George will be represented by one of the leading members of his family—either the Duke of Connaught or Prince Arthur of Connaught. Age and experience are undoubtedly mellowing the disposition of the Kaiser, and those who know him best say there is not nearly as much acerbity as there once was in his point of view regarding the general relations of the German royal house with our own, while he is certainly well disposed towards a friendly understanding between the two countries if it can be attained. This would not in any way affect our entente with France, and on this point the British government has given very precise assurances to the French ministry. Indeed one of the most hopeful signs of international relations is that the royal visit to Berlin has not caused the slightest apprehension in Paris as to our bona fides—a result which would assuredly once not have been the case. Indeed, considering the international tension over the Near East it is quite surprising how good an understanding exists between practically all the Powers, and there is no doubt that their common troubles have brought them all more closely together.

MOTHER SENTENCES HER SON FOR THEFT

Chicago, June 12.—A mother was called upon to pass sentence on her son, thirteen years old, in the Juvenile Court to-day after the boy had been found guilty of snatching a pocket-book from a woman.

"You must earn the money to pay for what you stole," said the mother. "You must promise to be in bed every night by 9 o'clock, or I'll ask the judge to send you away until your hair grows gray," was her ruling.

Judge Pinckney approved the sentence.

PRICES OF MEAT.

A dispatch from Sydney, Australia, says a dealer in meat bewails the failure of the reciprocity negotiations initiated by Hon. Geo. E. Foster with the Commonwealth government. This Australian who gives expression to his regret says large quantities of meat are being exported from New Zealand to Vancouver. That, we believe, is quite true. Now what we would like to know, and what probably every person in Victoria and this province who has to pay extortionate prices for meat would also like to know, is what becomes of that New Zealand meat after it reaches Vancouver. We are informed on very credible authority that all this New Zealand meat is shipped to Seattle. There it is put on the market, notwithstanding the American duty, at prices ranging from three cents a pound below the rates charged for American meat. And at that, we are also given to understand, the Seattle prices for local meat are at least three cents below the current prices in Victoria. The situation, therefore, is that we Canadians are subsidizing steamers to carry meat from New Zealand for the benefit of American consumers, because the effect is that the people of Seattle and all the people contiguous thereto are given the advantage of competitive prices in meat, and we on this side are paying part of the cost of transportation. There appears to be no competition in the selling of meat in Victoria. The prices are apparently fixed by arbitrary decree of some tribunal sitting in the dark—by what would be bluntly called on the other side of the line, where monopoly is popularly supposed to rule the roost, a combination.

Now combinations are unlawful in any part of Canada. It has been so decreed by act of parliament. It is the duty of the provinces to enforce the laws. The attorney-general is the individual responsible for the enforcement of the law. If the facts are as stated, Mr. Bowser's duty is plain in this matter. He should institute an inquiry into the prices of meat in British Columbia.

FUTURE OF THE EMPIRE.

A recent interesting contribution to the discussion of British Imperialism comes from the able pen of Richard Jebb, one of the foremost authorities on this subject to-day. Mr. Jebb deals fully with the more or less definite policies of Imperial Federation on one hand and British Alliance on the other, and very decidedly favors the latter.

He points out that under Imperial Federation the larger dominions would be asked to resign very considerable powers which they now exercise. Clearly the Australian Commonwealth would have to surrender control of its navy, and all the dominions some part of the control of their military forces. Furthermore the Foreign Office has frequently been concerned with the difficult question of Asiatic immigration, which affects China and Japan, and which in another aspect is felt to menace the internal peace of the Indian Empire. The dominions must resign their independence, therefore, in regard to immigration. Then, again, it would be necessary for the new federal parliament to have control over the tariff policies of the several dominions, involving another important surrender of old powers on their part.

This surrender of powers by the dominions to a federalized parliament, as outlined by Mr. Jebb, would be so extreme a nullification of their constitutional development as to be impossible. And yet if an Imperial Parliament is not endowed with most of these powers, at any rate it will have no excuse for existence. A British Alliance, on the other hand, would mean the free and autonomous national development of all the dominions, working in harmony, and owing allegiance to a common sovereign. This, apparently, was in the mind of Sir John A. Macdonald, who during the Confederation debates showed that he was intent upon founding a kingdom, and he wished the new state to be christened the "Kingdom of Canada." The king, of course, would be the same to whom the people of the United Kingdom gave their allegiance. This suggestion was rejected at the instance of the Foreign Secretary, Lord Derby, who feared that it might offend the republican prejudices of the Americans. It was quite apparent that at that early date Sir John A. Macdonald clearly foresaw that the future form of the Empire would be along the lines of a British Alliance—in other words, a collection of autonomous states with absolute control over their own domestic policies, but welded together by the indissoluble bond of sentiment.

SUFFRAGETTE FOLLIES.

We suppose the militant suffragettes of England argue that if they can interrupt or halt or completely stop certain of the activities of mere men, the object they espouse (shall we say even to the shedding of blood?) may be advanced, if not actually accomplished. We shall not esteem the sisterhood so lightly as to assume that they are doing violence to themselves and some of our cherished institutions merely for the sake of gaining a little temporary notoriety. Still, admitting that there is a definite aim behind the actions of these determined women, as mere men we cannot understand the soundness of the reasoning which argues that bursting a bag of flour upon the head of an official of the House of Commons will prove that women ought to have votes. The effect of this manoeuvre may have been to make the victim ridiculous as he spluttered and blinked under the shower, but it certainly did not prove that the people who instigated it are fit to be entrusted with the heavy and grave duty of controlling the destinies of a great nation. Because that is what the enfranchisement of women in the United Kingdom would mean. The women outnumber the men there, and on account of the increasing emigration, the proportionate strength of the women is likely to increase. That, we believe, is the view nearly all men, and probably a majority of women, will take of the matter. Nor do we think the act of Miss Davidson in offering herself up a voluntary sacrifice to the cause will cause a revulsion of feeling in favor of woman suffrage. We cannot but think the suffragettes are unwisely led. Whether their leaders are merely seeking notoriety for the attainment of their own particular ends is a matter we do not care to speculate upon.

THE DUKE COMING BACK.

We hope it is true that the Duke of Connaught has determined to complete his term of office as Governor-General of Canada. His Royal Highness discharged the duties of his office while he was in this country with the most complete acceptance to all classes of people. There were some who had misgivings when the announcement of his appointment was made. They thought that the association of Royalty in the old land might give the Duke a slant in a direction which would not fit harmoniously into the democratic conditions prevailing in Canada. But these sceptical ones did not take into account the qualities which are so conspicuous in the British Royal Family and which were so pre-eminent in the late King Edward, brother of the Governor-General. As a matter of fact, the Duke of Connaught walked with such fine poise in the straight and narrow path which is the only sure one for a Governor-General to follow that even those who were at first doubtful respecting the wisdom of the appointment are now hailing the prospect of his return with acclamation. He has done something that most of his predecessors failed to do. He has gone his way in apparent unconsciousness of the fact that there were any questions affecting the internal or the external relations of Canada undergoing discussion. He has discharged his official and social duties with all the dignity befitting his high position and yet with a simplicity that has won the hearts of Canadians.

Henri Bourassa has been telling a great deal of late about what he knows of the alliance between the Nationalists and the Borden government. Some of the things Henri relates are quite interesting, notably his revelation as to the financing of the Nationalist anti-naval campaign by that blatant Imperialist, Sir Hugh Graham. But it was hardly necessary for Mr. Bourassa to tell the public many of the things he has told them. They were all well known before, at least to people who have followed with unprejudiced mind the political events of the past few years. No one has any doubt that there was an alliance between the people in Quebec who say it was necessary to shoot holes in the British flag in order to gain a measure of liberty and the politicians in other parts of Canada who make a feature of waving the old flag and singing "God Save the King." But upon one point Henri Bourassa is right. Premier Borden fears that the truth in regard to his deal with the Nationalists is known and that it is having its logical effect and that as a consequence he is afraid to appeal to the country on the naval or any other issue.

The Dominion government is going to investigate the constructional or physical features of the Canadian Northern railway. We are willing to wager that the government will not inquire into the matter of what has been done with all the public money that has been poured into the coffers of the Canadian Northern railway. Some people are mean enough to say that it has gone into the pockets of Mackenzie & Mann, acting in the capacity of contractors for the construction of the railway. Certainly if Mackenzie & Mann secure all the contracts for construction and afterwards sublet the said contracts, they do not do so at a loss to the astute firm of Mackenzie & Mann. Perhaps some things now dark in connection with the operations of that much-lauded railway may yet be made clear.

ADAPTED TO THE BUSINESS.

From Saturday Night.
"Jerry" Sullivan is a very popular figure in a certain Toronto refectory and has quite a reputation as a wit among the financial element that frequent the house. Recently he offended a steady customer who had been accustomed to come in every morning for a "fener" of Scotch and soda. The amount of Scotch he poured out was away beyond the usual quantity, and he usually directed attention from it by opening up a line of conversation, and on his last visit he remarked: "Do you know, Jerry, I think I'd do well in the saloon business?"
"Do you think so?" was the reply.
"Yes, I think I can handle the business all right."
"Well, I wouldn't be surprised," said Jerry, quietly, "you can buy your whiskey now a good deal cheaper than we can."

Representative of Green Funnel Line Pays Visit to Victoria

In connection with the initiation of the service of the Atlantic-Pacific Steamship Company on the west coast of America, with calls in British Columbia, the United States, Central and South America, a representative was in the city yesterday in the person of L. A. Walker, on behalf of W. R. Grace & Co., San Francisco, the general agents.

Mr. Walker called on some of the principal merchants here, to learn what business was likely to be available for the Colusa, which will come soon, the first vessel of the fleet to berth here. He assured them that it was the intention to maintain a regular freight and passenger line from Mexico and California ports to Victoria and Vancouver, with particular attention to perishable goods.

In course of construction are the Santa Catalina and Santa Cecilia, while the Santa Clara left the ways at Philadelphia on Tuesday. The Santa Cruz has already been put in service, showing that the company intends to establish this line on a permanent basis. Until the canal is built the route by the Straits of Magellan will be used.

The Santa Clara is of the shelter-deck type, 430 feet long and 56 feet wide, with a loaded deadweight carrying capacity of 10,000 tons; she is equipped with a refrigerated capacity of 500 tons. The Santa Clara, like the Santa Cruz, is an oil burner, with an oil capacity giving her a steaming radius of 15,000 miles. She will load at New York about July 20 and come direct out to the coast without a stop on the way for cargo.

Local shipping men regard the new route as somewhat of an experiment although satisfied that with the opening of the canal there will be an increasing business development with British Columbia ports. The service is generally known as the Green Funnel line.

WILL HAVE THREE HOLT SHIPS TOGETHER

For First Time in History Three Blue Funnel Steamers Will Berth

There seems every prospect that for the first time in this port's shipping there will be three Holt liners in these waters at once, owing to the arrival at an early date of the intermediary steamer Ajax, which has left Yokohama on an outbound voyage. The Ajax was on this side of the Pacific coast about six years ago, and is commanded by Capt. G. S. Thompson, being of a class similar to the Telmachus and Jason. The intermediary service of the Holt line covers only Hongkong and Japanese ports, but it is probable the service may be extended to Manila.

The local representatives of the line, Dodwell & Co., look for the Ajax about the end of next week. She has a number of Oriental passengers for Victoria. The reason for the three vessels of the Holt line being scheduled in these waters together is that the Keemun, which is now unloading cargo at the outer wharf, will not get away for the Orient before July 9, and this will just enable the Telmachus to arrive on July 11 in time to have three Holt vessels here together.

The Ajax left Yokohama on Tuesday, and has a capacity cargo of general freight, including 650 bales of silk valued at $225,000. In her cargo are also valuable consignments of tea and gummi. Of the latter she has between 3,000 and 4,000 tons for various ports.

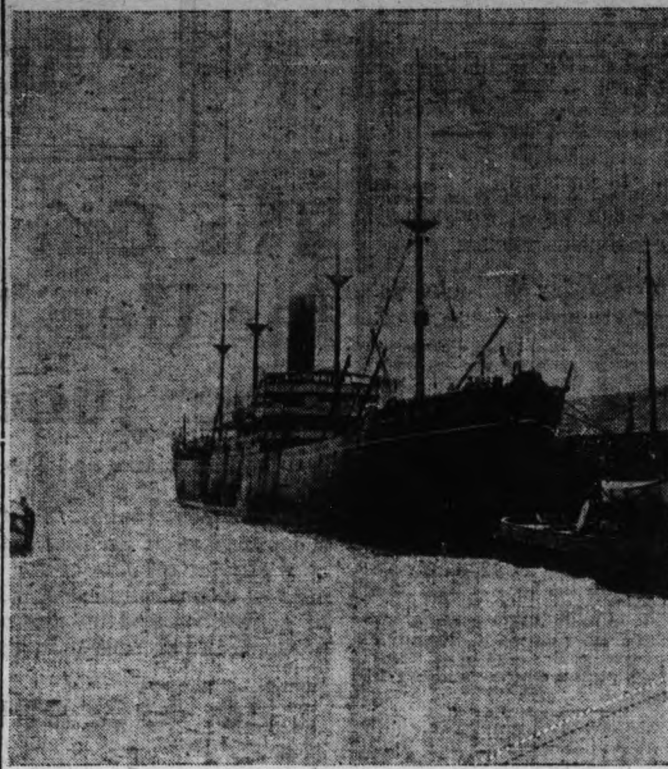

Water and Gasoline Tanks, Boiler Coverings and Sheet Metal Repairs for Boats or Ships given special attention. D. B. Plunkett, 1314 Wharf St.

CLEANING OF HARBOR RECEIVES ATTENTION

City Council Will Ask Dominion Government to Co-operate in Policing of Harbor

As a result of negotiations which have been in progress for the past few days, it appears that a solution will be reached with regard to the fouling of the inner harbor by floating material and the discharge of sewage, and also with regard to the patrol of the waters to enforce respect of the regulations of navigation by the mosquito fleet.

The Inner Harbor Association, at the suggestion of the Victoria carnival committee, in pursuance of the policy to clean up the city, took up with the city council a number of reforms, and particularly that of the patrol of the harbor. As a result of negotiations which have been pending between City Solicitor Robertson and T. C. Sorby, secretary of the association, it is understood that Mr. Robertson will suggest to the city council that the Dominion government should be approached by the council for the taking over of the policing of the inner harbor and making the revenue derived from finds carry a share of the cost of policing through the creation of a special fund for that purpose.

With the health department is being taken up the question of the discharge of sewage from the certain public institutions into the waters of James Bay at the Causeway, which in addition to being a danger to the public is also a drawback to the appearance of the anchorage for pleasure craft, the fleet of which will be augmented by a large number of visiting yachts at carnival time.

In connection with the complaint that booms of logs have been tied up at unauthorized places in the harbor, it appears that recently a captain of a tug took away with the boom three piles which had been placed by the department of public works to mark the limits of the operations of the dredge Mud Lark in the upper harbor and caused some inconvenience thereby. It is to regulate these difficulties that the subject is now under consideration.

MOST VALUABLE SILK CARGO IN LONG PERIOD

The Shidzuoka Maru, of the Nippon Yusen fleet, which arrives on Wednesday from Yokohama, brings the most valuable silk cargo carried by a vessel of this fleet for a long time, having 1272 bales of raw silk, and 80 cases of silk goods, worth well over $1,000,000. The business around Osaka is particularly brisk at this time of year, and as Kobe handles the bulk of the textile exports and imports of Japan, and the Shidzuoka is one of the newest and best steamers on the American line of this company, local representatives are not surprised at the large consignment of silk on this occasion.

It is expected that Capt. Iriawa will have news when the Aki Maru is to come to this coast. The vessel was due out to Europe at the same time as the Shidzuoka left for the coast, so that it will be some time before the Aki Maru will be available for this route.

To-morrow the Princess May will leave on her regular run to Skagway, and is taking freight for the northern ports.

CAPT. GIBB RECEIVES VICTORIA'S ADDRESS

Illuminated Copy Presented When Niagara Returns; Many at Wharf

On account of the delay in arriving last evening the Canadian-Australian liner Niagara did not get away till midnight. She did not take up her berth till about 11 o'clock. She took out 100 saloon passengers, 80 second class and 80 steerage and a full cargo. Among the company on the wharf was the Dean of Columbia, to meet the Archbishop of Sydney, the Most Rev. J. C. Wright, and Salvation Army officers to bid adieu to Commissioner Lamb, who is going to New Zealand and Australia on an important mission. As many of the passengers had gone to bed when the vessel berthed here, chief interest in the Niagara came from the local citizens gathered on the dock.

The Dean of Columbia having been engaged in clerical work at Leeds, England, when the archbishop was vicar of St. George's, Leeds, it was a renewal of old acquaintances.

Not the least interesting feature of the call here was the presentation by the mayor's secretary, Mr. Sinnott, of Capt. John Gibb, of the illuminated address, which had been read to him when the vessel arrived here on her maiden trip on May 23, and which has since been illuminated and framed.

Included the cargo taken out by the Niagara were four bears and two cubs for the Sydney Zoo, and a flying machine for Auckland, belonging to Mr. Hamilton, of Seattle.

The Marama, the next Australian liner, sailed from Auckland on Saturday with 81 saloon passengers, 80 second class and 80 third class. She has 1,000 tons of cargo, and is due here June 24.

LARGE FREIGHTERS ARE COMING TO COAST

San Francisco, June 12.—The fall of 1912 will bring more large steamers to this coast than any other year on record. The Hamburg-American and Royal Mail lines, in order to establish their trade with the Pacific coast, and place it on a firm footing before the opening of the canal, are sending a large number of vessels here, which, taken in connection with the steadily increasing arrivals of large oil tankers and government chartered steamers, will give the various coast ports such an appearance of activity as has never been witnessed.

Of the Hamburg-American line, the big steamers Saxonia, Ferdinand Laeisz, and Brigsavla, are already en route, and the Spezia will sail July 4. The Saxonia left Yokohama June 7 for Puget Sound and Portland.

Of the Royal Mail Line, the steamers Vestalla and Den of Ruthven are already en route from Antwerp, and the Glen Logan will sail July 4, while the Falls of Orchy, a chartered vessel left Yokohama May 31, and the Marama, also chartered, will leave Manila in a few days. All these big vessels will touch at Portland and Puget Sound ports only.

The San Francisco trade will be taken care of by an increased number of vessels placed in the Keomoo and Harrison lines, which have eight big vessels already en route here. In addition, Farrell & Co. have two large vessels of the East Asiatic Line en route.

SEATONPARK ALBERNI

This property consists of plots of five acres or so (which have proved most suitable for mixed farming and fruit and vegetable growing), and is situated less than two miles from the Alberni city limits and less than one mile from Sprout Lake.

The Trunk Road from Alberni to Sprout Lake and the West Coast, being a continuation of the Canadian National Highway from Halifax to Alberni, runs right through it.

It is one of the best sections of land in the Alberni district and was specially selected by experts of considerable farming experience.

The soil is of the finest quality, being nearly all Alder and Crab Apple bottom—excellent for crops of all kinds, also for fruit raising.

It has a beautiful river frontage, and the fishing at this point is of the best.

Altogether this property, both for location and quality of land, is adjudged much above the average in the Alberni district.

Puget Sound Packers Prepare for Sockeye Salmon Pack

The fishing trawler Imbricaria, from South Africa, for the B. C. Fisheries, Ltd., passed up the Straits of Juan de Fuca yesterday, completing a long trip. This will make the fourth trawler on this coast operated by the company. Captain Robinson, and a crew of 14 men brought the little vessel across two oceans at about seven knots an hour.

The Harrison Direct line, operating a fleet of cargo carriers in the Atlantic and Pacific, which formerly visited Honolulu, it is stated may re-enter the field, owing to a demand for labor in the Hawaiian Islands. The line might work up a profitable business in transporting immigrants from Spain, Portugal and continental ports by way of either the Isthmus of Panama or the Straits of Magellan to Honolulu. Harrison liners now proceed from Antwerp, Hamburg and United Kingdom ports to the east coast of South America and thence to the Pacific ocean, calling at various ports here. The line is building eight vessels of the most improved type, each with a capacity of 10,000 tons.

Eight days from the time of her departure from Seattle, the Alaska Steamship Company's liner Victoria arrived at Nome on Tuesday morning, the first of the large regular steamships to reach the Behring Sea port this year. This is a remarkable early opening of the ice in that district, which has not been experienced for months.

Transfer Barge No. 2, which has been overhauled at the ways of the Victoria Machinery Depot, will leave to-day to resume its duties in bringing freight across from the mainland.

A lookout man on the North German Lloyd steamer Hensch, which arrived at Baltimore this week, states that in passing the section of the ocean where the Titanic was lost last year a barnacle covered lifeboat was seen, floating level upwards.

The Danish East Asiatic Company has ordered four motor driven vessels for the Pacific trade. The first vessel has been launched, and will arrive on the coast via the Orient.

Passengers on the Prince Rupert for the north to-day included T. Emmerson, H. E. Walker, P. F. Longman, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Nelson, Mrs. and Mr. Donald. The last named got through to Granby Bay.

VANCOUVER MAN DESIGNED WINNER

The motor boat Barbara II, which crossed the finishing line at Hamilton, Bermuda, yesterday ahead of all other starters in the famous Philadelphia-Bermuda race, was designed by C. B. Shock, of Vancouver, B. C., a prominent boat builder and designer of that city for the past three years or so. The owners of the Barbara II, sent to Vancouver a few months ago, and Mr. Shock designed the vessel specially for the race. The boat was built in New York according to plans.

The Barbara II is a sister boat to the Berneo, which won the 1,500 mile Havana race the year before last. Mr. Shock built H. C. Brewster's "Iscom," McClelland and Foley's "Jolly Mack," W. S. Chamber's "Skawa," and has now under contract six motor boats for service in the forestry service of the British Columbia government.

Puget Sound Packers Prepare for Sockeye Salmon Pack

Seattle, June 12.—Expecting the sockeye salmon pack to aggregate 1,000,000 cases this year, Puget Sound packers are making active preparations to improve their plants and get them in readiness to handle fish cargoes. The sockeye make their big quadrilateral appearance in July. The last heavy sockeye run was four years ago (1909), the record season since the history of salmon packing on Puget Sound.

The increase expected this season over the pack last year, which was an "off" year, is expected to be about 500,000 cases. The run is expected to start early next month. The biggest catch in Puget Sound will probably be from July 20 to 25. The humpback run will be unusually large this year, and canners are making preparations for this catch, in addition to the sockeye pack.

Puget Sound canneries will not make a business of packing chums this year, as the bottom has fallen out of the market, and prices are so low that packers say it is a loss to pack them. Only the chums that come in with the other fish will be packed this season.

The retail market on chums at the present time is two pounds for 15 cents. Little has been heard of Alaska grading the fishing in the north. One report to local offices of the Northwestern Fisheries Company, at Orca, says that a good run of reds had started. This plant began operations on May 1.

A reduction in the packs of pink and medium reds is expected in Alaska this year, and this will tend to offset the larger Puget Sound pack.

CAPT. TROUP HOME FROM OLD COUNTRY

Let Contracts for Two Turbine Driven Steamers for Triangular Route

Capt. Troup, manager of the B. C. coast service, returned on the morning boat from Vancouver to-day, after a six months' visit to the Old Country in order to let contracts for two turbine propelled oil burning steamers for the triangular run in these waters.

Denny Brothers, the well-known Dumbarton shipbuilders, who make a specialty of turbine driven craft, have received the contract, and will construct two vessels of about 5,000 tons' burden, 275 feet between perpendiculars and 225 feet over all. The vessels will have 50 feet beam, and have three passenger decks, and like the Princesses Victoria and Charlotte, will have three funnels each.

BENEFIT CONCERT IS ARTISTIC SUCCESS

Leading Musical Talent of City Assists in Augmenting
Clayard Fund

The benefit concert held last evening at the Victoria theatre in aid of the wife and family of the late Sergeant Clayards, was no less popular in view of its merits than of its purpose, and the big audience which was present showed its enthusiasm in a most practical manner by remaining until the conclusion of the long programme which did not finish until shortly after 11 o'clock.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, who was accompanied by Mr. H. J. Musket, occupied one of the boxes during the greater part of the evening, and took part in the most important part of the proceedings when he presented the watches to those who distinguished themselves by conspicuous behavior in the "Nidge" accident.

Mrs. Clayards, the widow of the late sergeant, was the first to receive this gift from the hands of His Honor, after whom Sergeants Harper and Webb, and Constables George Foster, Frank Smith, and Arthur Halsted received similar awards. The Lieutenant-Governor expressing his pleasure at being able to present these awards for conspicuous bravery on behalf of the Dominion government. It was His Honor who presented the St. John Ambulance certificates and vouchers also, those receiving the former being Constables Arthur Sutton, George Ritch, J. McLenahan, Arthur Bishop, George Varney, William Sawyer, and Theo. Hooley, vouchers being presented to Mrs. Clayard, Jailer Brogan, Sergeant Webb and Constables Cramer, Macpherson, Foster, and Ritch. Constable Hall, who had already won the St. John Ambulance certificate, voucher, medalion, and label, received a second label last evening for having still further qualified in this work.

Quite appropriately after these proceedings the St. John Ambulance Society gave a display, Dr. G. A. B. Hall explaining the demonstration given by Constables Hall, Cramer, and Macpherson, under direction of Jailer Brogan, with Constable Ireland as the subject. The latter was successively supposed to be suffering from an injury to the elbow, fracture of the lower jaw, scalp wound, fracture of the left clavicle, and fracture of the right femur, all of which the ambulance corps treated by most approved first-aid methods, their precision, quickness, and neatness, winning the admiration of the spectators.

Programme Entertaining.
An excellent programme in which

some of the best local talent appeared, was given during the evening, all the artists seeming to be in particularly good form. The Arion Club, under their conductor, Herbert Kent, gave the opening and closing numbers of the first part of the programme, "The Bugle Song" being particularly pleasing; Mr. Muir's augmented choir, of mixed voices filled a similar place in the second half of the concert, with two of Eaton Fanning's well-known compositions which were much appreciated. Madame Davies received willing response from the audience for the chorus of "Rule Britannia," which she gave with fervor, and the familiar Woodforde-Fielden Indian Love Lyrics were sung with expressiveness by H. Morden. Another popular vocalist whose appearances are always welcomed by local audiences, was R. B. McKenzie, who played the double part of vocalist and accompanist during the evening. J. Muir also appearing in a double role as conductor of his own choir and a vocalist of pleasing voice.

The Misses Palmer, who number among Victoria's favorite duettists, gave a sympathetic and artistic rendering of No. 1's "Down the Vale," and two of the city's leading sopranos appeared in the persons of Mrs. H. Pooley and Mrs. Harry Briggs, the former singing Goebl's popular, "For You Alone," with violin obligato, by Mr. Turner, and, like Mrs. Briggs, who gave a beautiful rendering of "I Hear You Calling Me," won an encore, to which she very graciously responded. Mrs. Briggs singing another favorite in "Macushla," which she gave in response to continued applause. Miss M. Heming added to the pleasurable features of the programme by giving a pianoforte solo in which considerable virtuosity was called for, another instrumentalist who was enthusiastically received being A. H. Muir, who gave a sympathetic rendering of "Squire's Consolation" on the violin.

An unexpected pleasure was afforded the audience in being given the opportunity to hear the beautiful contralto voice of Miss Maguire, of Vancouver, whose two songs, Teresa del Riego's "Sink Red Sun" and Elgar's "Pansies," were among the most artistic given during the evening, the singer accompanying herself at the piano and winning instant popularity by her natural and artistic production. A new song given by A. Codd, and in which the full range of the basso's magnificent voice was called upon, made a great impression on the audience, this being T. A. Bevis' "Victor Galbraith," a composition of dramatic solemnity into which the singer infused a rare wealth of expression. Mrs. Gibson accompanied this singer as well as several of the other items during the evening.

The result of this delightful entertainment, owing to the generous spirit with which all the artists lent their services for the occasion, was that approximately $500 will be presented to Mrs. Clayards as a testimonial to the respect and esteem in which the late Sergeant was held by his comrades and fellow citizens.

Trustee Staneland has been ill since the beginning of this, his fifth year on the board, and Capt. McIntosh referred to the fact that it obviously was trying on his health to attend the meetings. His successor will have a year and a half of Mr. Staneland's unexpired term to run.

She read it through carefully and laboriously, and then remarked: "How silly of auntie, mamma." "Why, dear?" inquired her mother. "Well, don't you see? TEALYKUMS MAKE IT THREE

IN ROW FROM STINGLESS BEES

"Slim" Smith, Victim of Poor Support; Swain's Boot Allowed Killlay a Life; Who Scored Later With Winning Run

Seattle made a clean sweep of the three game series with the Bees by defeating the locals 2 to 1 at the ball yard yesterday, the boots on the part of the Victoria infield again figuring in the manufacturing of the winning run. Slim Smith twirled winning ball, and though he was hammered for eight hits he kept the bingles scattered. Up till the eighth, when he grooved one for Nill, he pitched shutout ball. Perfect support would have sent the teams into over time, but Charlie Swain misjudged an easy chance that gave Killlay, the latter going to third on Jackson's single, and scoring on Raymond's sacrifice fly to Lynch. It was a tough battle to lose, and it was the first time that Smith has failed to shut the Tealykums out this season. Lofy Walter heaved grand ball, but the fates were against him, despite his gift-edged twirling.

Fullerton Effective.

Fullerton handled himself nicely, and was especially good in the pinches, the Bees' failing to drive home the winning run on no less than three occasions when the bases were clogged. In the eighth Victoria had the bases filled with only one down, but Feltz did not set the ball out of the infield, and set the Lamb tapped an easy one for a force-out. Failure to clout the ball when hits meant runs is the story of the defeat in a nutshell, as any club that can only score a single run does not deserve to win, especially against a team like Seattle. A couple of snappy double plays featured the work of the Bees, but they fell down in the ninth when air-tight fielding meant everything. Seattle on the other hand, cutting off a couple of runs at the plate.

Seattle Has the "Pep."

Lynch made a shift in his batting order in an effort to shake the jinx, but it was no use as the heavy slugger failed to get going. Fullerton's benders having too much stuff on them for the Larrupers. The diminutive spit ball artist had his spray delivery working beautifully, six of the local hired help falling victims to the most heaving. Smith had everything, including control, and surely did his part towards winning. The visitors again showed some flashy base running, and did not make an error, though Tealey Raymond had the bunch crabbing at top speed.

Eddinger Very Ill.

Umpire Eddinger was too sick to act, and Eddie Gleason, the local arbiter, took his place. Gleason did very well as a substitute, but he was very raw on balls and strikes on several occasions.

"SLIM" SMITH

Elongated Bee twirler, who was plainly out of luck yesterday through no fault of his own.

AS SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

A pinch hitter might have helped some in the eighth.

Broten would have been a hero had he succeeded in hitting that winning run home in the eighth inning.

Tealey Raymond is certainly a great little manager to row with the Umps.

Slim Smith hoisted a sky climber in the third that went a mile in the atmosphere. It would have been a homer anywhere but in left field.

Cadman tries to bull the umpire along, but Gleason would not stand for any of the fake stuff yesterday.

Jackson looks like the smoothest working first sacker in the league. Some of his stops yesterday were big league stuff.

One of the reasons that Seattle claims a bunch of good pitchers is the support that is given Raymond's hurling staff.

Cadman never exerts himself to save a passed ball, and this week he has had three charged up against him, all of them costly.

Something ought to be done towards fixing up the outfield at the ball yard. Any single is liable to carrom off for a double or triple on the many tufts of grass that abound in the outer gardens.

Miles Netzel, the well-known third baseman formerly with Spokane, and one of their heaviest .300 hitters in 1911, will be back in this league within a few days, this time for Joe McGinnity. He will play his regular position for the Tigers.

Len Burrell drew his release at the same time Netzel was signed.

Ineffectiveness of three Tacoma pitchers enabled Spokane to win 4 to 1. Covaleskie was hit hard, but the visitors did not bunch their hits.

Portland came from behind in both games and defeated Vancouver. Timely hitting turning the trick in both contests.

President Fielder Jones, according to a Portland paper, has issued iron-clad instructions to all his umpires to hustle the games along. Umpire Eddinger probably didn't get his notice to that effect.

In a junior baseball game yesterday the Moss street school Third Reader won from the Boys' Central Third Reader by a score of 16 to 0. Batteries for the winners: Hall and Jaland, for the losers: Robinson, Campbell, McArthur and Scott.

Connie Mack's Athletics broke their winning streak yesterday after having won 15 games in a row.

LORIMER TO HAVE STRONGEST TWELVE

Amateurs Will Clash With New Westminster Team at Royal City on Saturday

The Victoria lacrosse team to take the field against New Westminster at that city on Saturday next in a coast amateur match was selected by Manager Sam Lorimer last night. With no exception local boys will go into the game the same as in their last match, providing that all the members can get away. Cyril Baker is the boy who is causing Samuel most worry, as it is hard for him to get away at this time of the month. However their faithful leader is full of hope, no matter how black the future may look to him, and expects to do his best with what material will be available.

The team will take the field in order as follows: Boss Johnson, Sweeney, Dakers, Okell, Taylor, J. Johnson, C. McCarter, A. McGregor, Baker, Petticrew, McDonald and Brynjolfson. Reserves, Menzies and Ross.

Stanley Okell intends leaving for the Old Country within a month or so, and this will cripple the team considerably, but it is hoped that McInnes will be able to resume a position by that time. Angle injured his collar bone in the opening game of the season, and has had it in a sling up to a couple of days ago.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Infield Will Have to Show Better Fielding

When Bert Delmas gets back into the game, Victoria's fans will be able to breathe a sigh of relief. The Bees have been simply booting away game after game through their inability to successfully fill that infield gap, and the whole team has been going bad because of that hole. Four errors were made yesterday by the infield and five the day before, and when you come to figure it out, that is surely bad baseball. Delmas will also add hitting strength to the club, while Madden will also give us another fence buster. Of late the clouters have been falling down badly and a shift in the batting order might help. Alberts is hitting too well for a lead-off man, and could be placed third or fifth to advantage. Madden is said to be an ideal lead-off batter and he will lead the locals to the plate. Another shift or so, however, would not hurt any. The twirlers have shown something against Seattle even if they were beaten, and with a little help from the fielders and the same old wrecking crew in action we may look for something better on the road trip.

ALREADY A LEADER—

An unprecedented experience in the Motor World

THE Russell-Knight six-cylinder model has been accorded a magnificent reception. Before any announcement had been made in the usual way, even before it had been exhibited to prospective purchasers, experienced motorists came to us and placed their orders, to be delivered as soon as possible. Over $200,000 worth of Russell-Knight "Sixes" were ordered long before deliveries commenced.

But they knew—and others know to-day. "Russell" reputation combined with the engineering skill and ability of the greatest staff of world-famous engineers, the automobile kingdom has ever known, was their guarantee. This team work, under the personal supervision of Chas. Y. Knight, himself, has produced a motor surpassing even the previous performances of the great Knight Engine.

Our customers remembered that famous test before the Royal Automobile Club of the United Kingdom, a test which has been assailed, ridiculed, imitated, but never equalled. They ordered the Russell-Knight "Six" because every record has proven the unfailing reliability and genuine service of the Knight motor as designed by Mr. Knight and brought to its fullest development in the Russell-Knight "Six."

An opportunity is now given you to inspect this newest "Russell," that has sold itself without the necessity of laborious demonstrations.

Deliveries are being made at West Toronto.

GOLFERS FEATURE FRIENDLY MATCHES

Evans Again Loses to Local Cracks; Leave for Seattle to Play Series

In a friendly match yesterday at the Oak Bay links, the Middle Western golf champions, who have been visiting here, were defeated at the hands of Captain Chambers and E. V. Macan. Messrs. Charles ("Chick") Evans and Davis, while playing high class golf, were the visitors who suffered defeat. The Middle Westerners left yesterday for Seattle where they are to play in a series of matches against the pick of the Pacific Coast.

J. Arbuckle and J. A. Rithet distinguished themselves by defeating H. B. Lee, of Detroit, and P. Stanton, of Grand Rapids, in handy order, and considering that the local duo were handicapped three and four respectively, their performance against these noted stars was particularly noteworthy.

Play at Seattle

Seattle, June 12.—Club Captain Fleeger has arranged a programme for to-day of fourfomes in the morning and medal play on handicap, open to all visitors to the links, in the afternoon. The team matches will be played Friday and Saturday.

Having played with all the members of the Middle West and Pacific Northwest teams, Captain Fleeger has assigned handicaps based on his knowledge of their game and also on the U. S. G. A. ratings. His own 5-handicap in the national list was largely the basis of his ratings for the visitors. A sample of this is found in his local club handicap of 3 and Chick Evans' U. S. G. A. handicap of 1. The latter, consequently, is placed at plus-1 during his medal play competition on this trip.

The other ratings follow: Wood is scratch; Sawyer, Legg, Egan and Macan, 1 each; Lee, Davis and Neville, 2 each; Armstrong, Devol, Kerry and Fleeger, 3 each; Hale, Matterson and Stanton, 4 each.

The match between the Middle West team and the Pacific Northwest professionals has finally been arranged. Barnes, Tacoma; Johnston, Seattle; Turnbull, Portland; Duthie, Vancouver; Moffat, Victoria, and probably three others from Victoria will comprise the pro. team. This match, at 35 holes, will be played Monday. The following day the third of the regular match games will be contested, and the two teams will leave for Portland to carry out a three-day programme somewhat similar to that which will be observed at Seattle.

OFFICERS CHOSEN FOR KENNEL CLUB

J. W. Creighton was elected president at the annual election of officers of the Victoria Kennel Club last night, and the following other gentlemen were chosen to hold office: Vice-president, Dr. Medd; secretary, pro tem, Miss Winsloe; bench show committee, J. A. Robb, H. Wrightsworth, J. A. Hickford, H. Morton, J. Wolfenden, C. Goodwin and Dr. Garesche. The financial report for the year showed a creditable balance. The autumn show will this year be held in connection with the annual fall fair.

It was agreed that the members of the club should get into communication with breeders of small dogs in order to encourage entries in this division of the show. It was announced that many dogs would be sent by local owners to Vancouver for the show there July 1. C. A. Goodwin will take charge of the local entries.

TO-DAY IN PUGILISTIC ANNALS

1912.—Jimmy Gardner was stricken with diphtheria in his dressing room an hour before he was to have met Eddie McGorty in the ring at Boston. Gardner, once one of the cleverest of boxers, has recently announced his intention of trying to come back. He is a native of Ireland, and in his ten years in the ring has knocked out Kid Griffin, Mike Memic, Rufe Turner and others, and defeated Harry Lewis, Joe Walcott, Jimmy Clabby, Bill McKinnon, Terry Martin and Frank Klaus. 1912.—Johnny Coulton knocked out Frankie Hayes in fourth round at New Haven.

FACTS ARE FACTS.

To the Sporting Editor:—I cannot understand why it is so persistently and constantly stated that the British Columbia eleven made the best showing against the Australian cricketers. Results are what count.

The Victoria eleven was the only one to dispose of the visitors. There is a difference only of 15 runs between the total scores of the British Columbia eleven and that of the Victoria eleven. Victoria lost by an innings and 89 runs, whereas British Columbia lost by 103 runs, 4 wickets, and an innings. Australia all out, 222; Victoria, total, 133.

Australia 8 wickets, 334; Vancouver-Cowichan, total, 143. Australia 6 wickets, 261; B. C., total, 158.

WHO'S WHO IN SPORTS

Magnate McAleer, 45 To-day—Once a Diamond Slave.

Otto Knabe, the classy second baseman, of the Philadelphia Nationals, will celebrate to-day, this being Otto's twenty-ninth birthday. Mr. Knabe is a native of Carrick, Pa. His professional baseball career commenced some eight years ago, in the Western League. A Colorado Springs uniform first draped Otto's five feet seven figure, but he soon left the millionaire city for Pueblo, and finished the 1906 season with that city. One year in the Western served to attract attention from the scouts of the main circuit, and Otto was drafted by the Pittsburgh Pirates. He wasn't considered quite wicked enough for a Buccaneer, however, and in 1906 was turned over to the Toledo Mudhens. Later he was recalled by Pittsburgh, and was traded to Philadelphia for Camnitz. This is his seventh season with the Quakers, and the fans are coming to look upon him as a fixture.

Ever since he broke into baseball Otto has manifested an extreme fondness for the second pillow. He has not only played that position throughout his career, but he has become famous for swatting the pill for two baggers. Since he has been with Philadelphia, Knabe's batting averages have ranged from .218 in 1908 to .282 last year, when he was at his batting best. There is nothing remarkable in those figures, but Otto is remarkable in the number of doubles he is able to smash out. This year he has been living up to his reputation, and, if he keeps going, will probably lead the league in doubles.

MOTORCYCLE RACES COME OFF SATURDAY

The final preparations for the international motorcycle races at the Willows Saturday afternoon are almost completed. Cogburn, one of the entrants, is recognized as a speed demon. He won the second and third heats of the Portus Baxter trophy race, defeating Godfrey, the British Columbia champion on both occasions at the Meadows, Seattle. Fred Zwick won the first heat of the Portus Baxter race. Godfrey, of Vancouver, claims that in this race his machine was not in good working order, and he hopes to have better luck against his old rival on the local track. Ed. L. Berreth will also be here. "We" Jimmy Bergstad, the eighty-five-pound rider, will also be a performer. Ted White, John Venen, Teller, a California rider and Seale, who ride for pleasure, will also be among the competitors. Fred R. Palmer, of the Pacific Coast Motorcycle Racing Association, has wired to the local manager that other riders not named may be expected, too.

CANUCK CREW VERY CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

Liverpool, June 12.—Looking in the pink of health and condition, the crew of the Argonaut, Rowing Club, of Toronto, who are to uphold the banner of Canada at this year's Henley Regatta, arrived in Liverpool last night on board the Teutonic. Individual members of the crew expressed quiet optimism as to their prospects in the big eight-oared event, the Grand Challenge cup, and the opinion was general that the crew will give a good account of itself even if it does not succeed in winning this trophy, which was won by Australia last year, the crew being that of the Sydney Rowing Club. "The voyage," said Joe Wright, the coach, "was a splendid one. Every day since we sailed we have put in practice on our rowing machines, and the result of this work on the liner and the beneficial effects of the trip is that we are now every man fitter and in better condition than when we left Canada."

SEEK TROPHY.

New York, June 12.—Maurice E. McLoughlin, R. Norris Williams and Harold H. Hackett, making up the American tennis trio, which defeated the Australians in the Davis cup preliminary, were booked as passengers on the steamer Baltic sailing for England to-day, hoping to bring back the international trophy. The next step toward this goal will be a match with the Germans, who recently defeated the French players, then, if successful, with the winners of the South African-Canadian matches. The final round probably will not be reached until July 15, and the challenge round at Wimbledon is scheduled for July 25 to 28.

PLAY TO-NIGHT.

The Island League lacrosse game which is scheduled between the Lathams and Oak Bay, at the North Ward park, will take place at 8.15 this evening. Messrs. Taylor and McDonald will referee the match. The Oak Bay team is not taking the field at full strength, the star, Cedric Touhy, being unable to play owing to McGill examinations which he is taking commencing at the high school to-day.

OSTDIEK RESIGNS.

Spokane, June 12.—Walter B. (Watt) Powell is the new playing manager of the Spokane Indians. He succeeds Harry G. Ostdiek, who yesterday turned in his resignation to President Cohn. Shortstop E. Rourke, with the Boston Nationals last fall, who batted .334 in the Connecticut League in 1912, has left Boston for Spokane.

Ostdiek severs all connections with the club he has led to one pennant and two second places within three years. Though a man conquer a thousand thousand men in battle, a greater conqueror is he who conquers himself.—Buddha.

DEFECTIVE CHILDREN DISCUSSED IN REPORT

School Board Asks Department to Train Special Teachers for This Work

TEACH SUBNORMALS BY THEIR HANDS AND EYES

Mrs. Jenkins and Inspector
Paul Urge That Victoria
Open Ungraded Class

"That this board ask the department of education to take up the education of defective children in the whole province, and have teachers especially trained for this work so Victoria may institute an ungraded class as soon as the teachers are available," was the motion of Trustee Mrs. Jenkins carried unanimously by the school board last night, as a result of the report presented by Mrs. Jenkins and Inspector Paul of their visit to the school for defective children in Seattle.

Mrs. Jenkins supplemented her report by a few words, in which she informed the board that she had also visited some schools in California. At Oakland she had been told that 30 per cent. of the pupils in the ungraded classes were restored by the treatment to their regular positions in the grades given them, and that thus many children who would otherwise be a menace to society were built up into useful citizens. She was sure there were many subnormal children in Victoria, and urged that steps be taken to deal with the problem they presented.

Corporal Punishment Rare.

Mrs. Jenkins also stated that in California schools that she had visited corporal punishment was very rare although there was no law forbidding it.

Excerpts from her report are appended. First comes the statement made to the deputation by Superintendent Cooper, of Seattle, regarding the special schools in that city for defectives.

"These schools were established to care for children who were misfits in the public schools owing to their mental condition," said Mr. Cooper.

"The initiative in selecting such children is taken by the principal or teacher, who reports the cases to the medical inspector, and if in the opinion of the latter the child is sub-normal the principal requests a special mental examination. If this examination shows a degree of mental deficiency which makes progress in the regular grade impossible, the child is recommended to the special school."

Make Psychological Examinations.

"Each special school has a laboratory, where children on their admission are subjected to exhaustive physical and psychological examinations by medical specialists, one of whom is a lady physician. The anthropometric work is used as a basis for gymnastic exercises, while the psychological tests not only show that each child is retarded, but give his exact mental status. This intensive study of each child has been most beneficial to the teachers, who by appealing to the many sided interests of the children—mental and motor—have been able to develop each child in the special school to some extent."

"For the first time these handicapped children find themselves working with their equals. No longer is the dull pupil of the class subjected to the taunts and jeers of the other children. Their abilities being known, their tasks are adapted to them; thus their happiness in successful accomplishment of these tasks as well as the greatest stimulus to greater efforts."

The report of Mrs. Jenkins and the Inspector says: At Washington school, Seattle, we were first shown the different physical and mental tests to which the children are subjected—tests for hearing, will-power, etc. By those tests the children are graded. There are about 45 children in the school, from 12 to 15 pupils being the maximum number for each teacher.

Teach Children Through Hands.

The work is almost entirely manual,

the mentality of the children being developed through their hands and eyes. The older girls have sewing, knitting, crocheting and cooking. The boys enjoy wood work, and all have various kinds of hand work. We were particularly struck by the excellence of the work of some of the girls, and by the general happy tone of the school. The teachers are selected from among the graduates of a training college at New Jersey, and seem excellently fitted not only by their skill but also by their kindly dispositions for their noble work.

Depends on Teacher.

The conclusions we drew from our brief visit were:

1. That much good can be done to mentally defective children by the system in vogue in Seattle.
2. That specially trained teachers are absolutely necessary for such work, and that, if a school for the mentally defective was organized in Victoria, a teacher from the training college should be employed, or a young lady should be sent from this city to be trained. The success of such an institution depends entirely on the skill and temperament of the teacher. After the teacher is engaged, the school-rooms should be fitted up under her supervision.

WILL ENFORCE TAX.

Forestry Department Has Issued Notice of Tax Provided in Forest Act.

A notice has been issued by the forestry department of the provincial government to the effect that the tax provided for in the Forest Act will in regard to old Crown grant timber, be called into operation on July 15. The act provides that the tax on old Crown grant timber shall be levied according to the grade of timber in question. As far as fir timber is concerned, definite grades have long been established, but the difficulty in the past has been in establishing satisfactory grades for cedar. This matter has now been adjusted, and exporters of logs have been notified that from and after July 15 the $1, $1.50 and $2 with other rates established by section 58 of the act will be payable by exporters upon grade, as well as upon scale measurement. Instructions have been issued to all government scalers accordingly.

COLLECTION IN SCHOOLS.

School Board Refuses Request of Daughters of the Empire.

A request from the Daughters of the Empire that a ten cent collection be taken up in the schools from the members of the Coronation Day chapter was refused by the Board of School Trustees last evening on the ground that it was contrary to the rules. The collection was to be devoted to paying for baths for the poor children in the East end of London. Another request that it be announced in the schools that the membership tickets for the school children's chapter would be presented at a reception to be held at Mrs. Henry Croft's residence was granted.

Beauty-Destroying Hairs Quickly Banished

(The Modern Beauty.)

It is now an easy matter to quickly and permanently rid the skin of ugly hairy growths without resorting to the painful and expensive electric treatment, merely by using a delicate paste, made by mixing enough delatone with water to cover the hairy surface. This paste should remain on the skin 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. After using delatone the skin will be entirely free from hair or blemish.

Beautiful, lustrous eyebrows will result if pyroxin be rubbed on occasionally, and short, straight eyelashes will come in long, silky and have a delightful curl by applying pyroxin at lash-roots with thumb and forefinger. Use care and don't get any pyroxin where no hair is wanted.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By RUTH CAMERON

"A simple child that lightly draws its breath And feels its life in every limb, What should it know of death!" —Wordsworth.

There is a vigorous, full of life young woman among my friends who always says in place

"when I die," "If I die." Her explanation is that although in her mind she knows that she will die, she cannot seem to believe in her heart that this strange thing will really come to her.

Most of us are not so frank. And yet don't we all have this same feeling in greater or less degree? We know in our minds that of course we must die some time, but do we actually sense it? I don't believe we do.

One day last summer I spent an hour or so wandering through a very old New England cemetery—or to use the better and braver term for it—burying ground.

Perhaps you may think that is a very queer way to spend a golden hour in summer, but if you ever happen to be near a burying ground over which time has thrown the softening veil of romance, try it some day. I am sure that in the half obliterated Nehemiah and Samanthas and Pollys and Thomases, in the moss-covered dates and "Aetatis" and the quaint inscriptions, you will find many a half-told tale to awaken your imagination.

But to return to the main theme. As we wandered through the quaint old burying ground, we came upon a stone marked "1812." The man whose name was upon it had died at the age of 80 after a good long life. And he had been dead one hundred years! Of course the same thought came into the minds of both of us. "Just think, he has been dead and buried over a hundred years! Some day we, too, will have been dead a hundred years, and someone else will stand by our graves and read our names on the tomb stones."

An inevitable and tremendous thought! And yet it made so little impression upon us that in two or three minutes we were talking lightly of the most frivolous topics.

You see we didn't believe it, at least not with the real belief that comes from the heart rather than the mind.

"As a matter of fact," says Stevenson in Aes Triplex, "although few things are spoken of with more fearful whispering than this prospect of death, few have less influence on conduct under healthy circumstances." And he goes on to show that while we wonder how people who live in cities built on the sides of fiery, volcanic mountains can eat and drink and make merry, and think so little about their mortal condition, we are all very much like them.

For though we live continually in the presence and possibility of death, yet as a matter of fact, we think surprisingly little about it.

Yes, when you come to think of it, the unbelieveableness of death to the average person in view of our daily acquaintance with that great fact, is one of the queer quirks of the human brain. Or may it not be something bigger and better—a proof of our instinctive realization of our own immortality?

PASSING SHOW

Eddie Foy.

Theatrical stars may come and stars may go, but theatre-goers know what to expect when Eddie Foy is announced for an appearance and the sort of entertainment he will present. This season Eddie Foy is under the management of Werba & Luescher, who gave last season "The Spring Maid."

Mr. Foy's name is a guaranteed trade mark for fun, and he has always given the public not only the best in himself, but the strongest companies and most lavish production.

This year New York voted his production, "Over the River," the hit of the season, and as a consequence Mr. Foy enjoyed six months' record-breaking business at the Globe theatre, New York. The original production and company came here, including the seven merry children of Eddie Foy's, and likewise that beauty chorus of which so much has been written. Mr. Foy, his children and his company will be seen at the Victoria theatre this evening.

Blanche Bates.

Blanche Bates, who comes here under Charles Frohman's direction in her new play, "The Witness for the Defense," at the Victoria theatre, Friday, June 13, has to her credit a notable gallery of interesting portraits of diverse types of womanhood. With each new portrait that Miss Bates gives the stage, her work is finer, her command of her art is surer, and she has attained absolute dexterity in interpreting life in the terms of her repertoire. No stage character she has ever had could illustrate this better than her present role of Stella Ballantyne in "The Witness for the Defense."

Frances Starr.

One of the real events of the theatrical season will be the appearance here of Miss Frances Starr in her new play, "The Case of Becky," which David Belasco is sending to the Victoria theatre on Monday, June 16. The play is a novelty in that the principal character, a young woman possessed of a double personality, is entirely new to the stage. Miss Starr is supported in this play by a fine company, and the production from a scenic standpoint is noteworthy.

"Fine Feather."

A Demonstration Interesting to Women Is Now Going On In Our Store on the Subject of

Pond's Tampons

Pond's Tampons constitute a form of treatment which has been universally employed and endorsed by leading physicians. For over six years the medical profession has demonstrated the power of this simple common-sense form of treatment to relieve and, in many cases completely cure, those distressing headaches, backaches and general nervous breakdowns peculiar to women.

The time has come when the originators of POND'S TAMPONS feel absolutely justified in their decision to place this wonderful system within the reach of every wife, mother and daughter. They believe that when modest women realize how much of unnecessary suffering can be prevented, how many cases of terror-inspiring surgical operations can be avoided, and how many women can be restored and kept in a glorious, vibrant, beauty-bringing condition of health by this simple, inexpensive, painless home treatment, that a supply of Pond's Tampons will be kept in every home in the land.

Do not fail to visit this demonstration. It lasts all this week. If you cannot visit us during the demonstration, ask some one in our Drug Department to give you a booklet of interesting information about Pond's Tampons.

Demonstration on first floor, near elevator.

TEACH DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Building to Be Erected on Victoria West Grounds; Desks Locked Over.

Various matters connected with school equipment were discussed by the school board last night. On recommendation of the building and grounds committee the building superintendent was instructed to prepare plans for a domestic science building on the grounds of the Victoria West school. A special committee of Trustees Mrs. Jenkins, Captain McIntosh and Dr. Donald was appointed to investigate the merits of the various desks offered for the Burnside and Oakland schools and a special meeting of the board will be held Friday afternoon to adopt their report.

Dr. Donald and the city superintendent were also instructed to look into the matter of arranging for physical training for the girls at the new High school, Mrs. Jenkins objecting that only the boys were provided for so far.

CLAIMS COMMISSION ON KITSILANO SALE

Joseph Cole Alleges $100,000 Paid by Government and $20,000 Promised Him

HAMILTON READ IS NAMED DEFENDANT

Vancouver, June 11.—Charging that $100,000 was shared by some of those responsible in acquiring for the provincial government the Indian reserve at Kitsilano, lawyers representing Joseph Cole, who is bringing action against Hamilton Read, barrister, of this city, filed a statement of claim in the Supreme court registry yesterday. The action will be heard after the summer vacation. Cole claims $20,000 as his share in assisting in the sale. The statement of claim sets out that on or about February 9, 1912, the plaintiff entered into negotiations with the defendant, who was at that time connected with the firm of Bowser, Read & Wallbridge, relative to the purchase by the provincial government from the Indians of their right in the Kitsilano reserve. It was arranged between the parties that the plaintiff should use his influence and services to bring about the sale. The defendant represented to the plaintiff that he had made arrangements with the provincial government whereby a sum of $100,000 would be paid as commission for the consummation of the sale, and it was agreed that in consideration of the plaintiff's services to Read, he should receive $20,000 as commission or remuneration for his services. The plaintiff further alleges that he attended several meetings, and through his aid the sale was eventually made, but since then the defendant has refused to pay the commission claimed.

LIVESTOCK TO COME BEFORE COMMISSION

Western Rate Cases Also Set
for Hearing During
This Month

Ottawa, June 12.—After two years of unsuccessful negotiations between livestock men and the railroads, the question of livestock transportation contracts will come up before the railway commission, June 13, for final decision. After the matter was last up before the board, it was placed in the hands of a committee of shippers and railway men who have been discussing it ever since.

As far as can be learned, however, no agreement has yet been come to, and the board will probably have to do the deciding. A number of questions, besides the mere matter of rates will be discussed. The livestock matter will come up following the western rates case, which is also down for June 13. The latter will probably last for a week or more, and it is considered probable that it will be finished at this session.

PHYSICIANS ALLOWED TO PRACTICE AGAIN

Vancouver, June 12.—At a meeting of the medical council held yesterday, Doctors C. W. Whitaker, H. B. Ford and S. Blumberger, who were struck off the roll of practicing physicians, following an investigation held by a committee of the council three months ago into their association with H. M. Snepper, an unqualified man, who conducts the R. C. hospital in South Vancouver, were reinstated, and they are now allowed to recommence their professional duties.

AUSTRALIA DISAPPOINTED.

Sydney, N. S. W., June 12.—Great disappointment is expressed by shippers of frozen meat and butter at the suspension of the negotiations for a reciprocal trade treaty between Canada and Australia. The fact that New Zealand and Australia arranged a treaty some little time ago and that it is quite likely to be ratified in both countries despite governmental changes, makes it all the more a matter for regret.

You May Publish My Letter
About "Fruit-a-tives"

Mr. Jones is proud to acknowledge the great debt of gratitude he owes "Fruit-a-tives." He is glad to have his letter published in order that other sufferers may be induced to try these wonderful tablets made of fruit juices. "Sarnia, Ont., Feb. 5th, 1911. 'I have been a sufferer for the past 25 years with Constipation, Indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors, but derived no benefit whatever. Finally, I read an advertisement for 'Fruit-a-tives.' I decided to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial and they did exactly what was claimed for them. I have now taken them for some time and find they are the only remedy that does me good. I have recommended 'Fruit-a-tives' to a great many of my friends, and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly. 'PAUL J. JONES.' 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. VANCOUVER OPERA HOUSE PROGRESSING

Vancouver, June 12.—"By next November, when the theatrical season opens, Vancouver's new opera house will be in readiness," said David B. Boyd, financial agent, yesterday. For about a year Vancouver has been without an opera house, but has been compelled to make shift with a small place, the Imperial.

Mr. Boyd announces that the site on the north side of Pender street near Burrard street, where the excavation was made, is all ready for the concrete, which work will start at once, and building operations will be under way in a few days.

The plans of the building are for a seating capacity of 1,600, with a stage large enough to accommodate the largest companies. E. R. Ricketts is at the head of the company constructing the theatre.

SMART NAVAL WEDDING SOLEMNIZED TO-DAY

Nuptials of Paymaster Jinkin
and Miss Ruby Fell Celebrated at St. Paul's

A very smart military wedding took place at St. Paul's Royal Naval Station and Garrison church, Esquimalt, at 2 o'clock to-day, when Florence Ruby, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Fell, 1233 Fort Street, became the bride of Staff-Paymaster Robert Alfred Jinkin, of the Royal Navy, the popularity of the young couple making the event one of unusual interest to Victorians.

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, the chancel rail and front being almost hidden beneath wild daisies, palms and white roses.

The ceremony, which was more than usually picturesque owing to the presence of a large number of naval and military officers in uniform, was performed by the Rev. W. Baugh Allan, who met the bridal party at the entrance to the church, and preceded them up the aisle to the chancel, the bride leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She was beautifully gowned in ivory satin with Duchesse point lace, the long brocade court train borne by the two little page boys being lined throughout with white chene, which gave it a peculiarly rich appearance. Sprays of orange blossom fastened this in place at the shoulders, while tiny sprigs of the same flower appeared in the square points of the train, and a wreath of the traditional bloom was worn over the soft veil of tulle. The bouquet which the bride carried was of bride's roses, her ornaments being a diamond and ruby ring, the gift of the bridegroom, and a pearl and diamond pendant.

Attending her were her maid-of-honor, two little flower girls, and two small train-bearers. The first, Miss Homewood Wootton, was charmingly dressed in a pale blue brocade crepe de chene coat with high Elizabethan collar and vest of white chiffon embroidered with pink roses, the skirt worn with this being of white satin, and the hat of white tulle. Her bouquet was of pale pink roses and sweet peas.

Little Betty Phillips, of H. M. navy yard, and Mary Sutherland, of Vancouver, were dainty and winsome in Kate Greenaway frocks of white mull, their mob caps of white chiffon being trimmed with pink rosebuds and forget-me-nots, while in their mittened hands they carried old-fashioned bouquets of the same flowers.

The sailor pages were the bride's two small brothers, Masters Norman and Arthur Fell, both wearing white sailor suits and sailor hats.

Staff-Surgeon Smythe, of H.M.C.S. Rainbow, acted as best man, the ushers being Lieutenants Pilcher, Chalmers and Bury, also of H. M. C. S. Rainbow.

The bride's mother was gracefully gowned in grey crepe de chene over satin, with cut steel trimmings, and grey plumed hat to match.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, and while the bridal party were in the vestry signing the register, Mrs. MacDonald Fahey gave a beautiful rendering of "Since God Has Made These Mine," the organist playing Mendelssohn's Wedding March while the bride and groom passed down the aisle under the crossed swords of the officers from the Rainbow, Algerine and Shearwater.

This, however, did not conclude the naval emphasis of the proceedings, a cohort of sailors pulling the carriage from the church door to the canteen grounds, where the health of the bride and groom was proposed by one of the officers, and drunk with enthusiasm.

Later a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, 1233 Fort Street, J. Herriek McGregor proposing the health of the bride at the wedding breakfast which was served in the marquee erected on the lawn, and the time-honored custom of the bride cutting the wedding cake with her husband's sword being duly observed. Other toasts proposed in equally felicitous terms included "The Bridesmaids," by Smythe, and "The Navy," proposed by Sir Richard McBride and responded to by Commander Hoag.

Among the numerous handsome gifts testifying to the popularity of the happy pair were a silver service, cut glass and silver rose bowl, a case of cutlery and silver candlesticks, and silver fruit bowl from the officers and staff, chief and petty officers of H. M. C. S. Rainbow; and an oak and silver salad bowl and silver fruit dish from H. M. S. Algerine and H. M. S. Shearwater respectively.

The groom's gifts were, to the maid-of-honor, pearl and sapphire pin; to the flower girls, gold naval crown brooches; and to the little pages, gun metal watches.

Later in the afternoon Paymaster and Mrs. Jinkin left amid showers of rice and confetti expressive of the good wishes of their numerous friends, for a three or four weeks' honeymoon trip, the bride wearing a becoming tailored costume of navy blue with hat to match. On their return to Victoria they will take up their residence until the end of August at the Navy Yard, Esquimalt, after which they will go to Plymouth, England.

JUNE BRINGS ITS QUOTA OF WEDDINGS

Passing Days Marked by Many Pleasant Events—
in the City

Last evening a pretty wedding took place at St. John's church, when Eleanor Catherine, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Cowell, of Douglas, Isle of Man, was united in the bonds of holy wedlock to Mr. Edmund Jeeves, fourth son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Jeeves, of this city. The Rev. J. Stanley Ard performed the ceremony, which was celebrated in the presence of a large number of the friends of the young couple.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Wesley Cowell, of New Zealand, was exquisitely gowned in soft ivory satin, trimmed with Carickmacross lace, her veil of embroidered tulle being fastened in place by a semi-wreath of orange blossoms, and her bouquet being of roses and maiden-hair fern.

The maid of honor, Miss Gertrude Watterson, was charmingly frocked in apricot satin, veiled with lace, her bouquet being of pale pink carnations. The little flower girls, who wore white voile frocks and carried baskets filled with pink roses, were the Misses Hilda Whipple and Thelma Jeeves. Mr. Percy Jeeves acted as best man.

A pretty feature of the ceremony came when the bride and groom left the church, the little flower girls and members of the Girls' Auxiliary scattering flowers in the path of the happy pair as they advanced down the aisle to the doorway, Mr. G. Jennings Burnett, who presided at the organ, playing Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

After the ceremony the guests repaired to the residence of the groom's parents, where a reception was held, the happy pair standing beneath a floral bell and arch of ivy and morning glories.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Jeeves left for Vancouver and the Sound cities, and on their return will take up their residence at 1360 Carlin street.

Yesterday afternoon an interesting wedding took place at Christ church cathedral, when Hilda Joan, daughter of Mrs. H. Strongren, of Howe street, and Mr. F. A. Murray, manager of the Merchants' bank, Sidney, were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Dean Doull. The bride looked very smart in a costume of white cloth with a hat to match, trimmed with ostrich plumes, Mr. D. Leeming giving her away, and Mrs. D. Leeming acting as matron-of-honor. Mr. F. L.

Rendall acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Murray are spending their honeymoon in Portland, and will make their future residence, on their return to the island, at Sidney.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated on Tuesday evening, June 10, when Miss Isabella Maude Crocker was united in marriage to Mr. Isaac Chadwick, of Warrington, England, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Wood in the Victoria West Methodist church. The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. R. O'Hara, looked charming in a costume of cream serge with hat to match, her bouquet being of white roses and carnations. Miss Marguerite Crocker acted as bridesmaid, looking exceedingly pretty in a frock of blue and white silk, and carrying a bouquet of white roses. Mr. Charles Sanderson acted as best man, and the musical numbers of the service were furnished by Miss Davis, who presided at the organ.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. R. O'Hara, Langford street, where the happy pair received the congratulations of their many friends.

ORIENTALS—ANOTHER VIEW.

To the Editor:—I have noticed a number of letters in your recent issues
in reference to the forming of an Asiatic Exclusion League. The writers, however, are evidently moved more
from the fact that they wish to condemn the government than from an-tagonism to the Orientals. I have noticed also that these fiery outbursts emanate more from the city than from the country. How can the average farmer secure labor at a price it is profitable for him to pay? How can he ever expect to clear his land unless he can get help? What the farmer wants is help, and plenty of it, and cheap at that. Let hundreds of Chinese into the country and get our farms producing again. Get our timbered lands cleared and seeded. Then we may be able to get a quart of milk for something less than 15c, and get it delivered too.

Pass a law, by all means, to prohibit the Orientals getting a title to land.
Restrict them as to what lines of work
they may engage in. Give them a passport into the country, good for say five years, which can be renewed if we have any further use for their labor.
"Smith" says they send all their wages
to China, but what does he suppose the Italians and Swedes do with their earnings?

Captain Vancouver is much more likely to turn in his grave at all the clap trap about "enemies of our race," etc., than from the worry about the number of Chinamen in British Columbia. Ask the man with a number of acres of wild land if he would like a gang of Chinamen at $1 per head per day to help him clear it. There was a time when this was possible, and living was a good deal cheaper than today.

HEB

CLEAN-UP DAY.

To the Editor:—I cannot recall to mind the actual wording of the many orders issued by the government organ, bearing upon the cleanliness and neatness of our homes and persons,
from now until the departure of our visitors in August, when the Colonist will kindly relieve us from the unusual strain of its peremptory orders. After the general "cleaning up" (which many think is not necessary), we are told of a troop of "fine combers" coming along to clean up anything that may have escaped, and complete the job. Speaking for myself, home, and family as fair representations of Victorians, I think it was not necessary to so persistently and untruthfully refer to our want of neatness and cleanliness.
There may be a few truants, so to speak, but why should it be necessary,
on their account, to risk the ridicule and contempt of outsiders, when they read of the special efforts we are making to look clean. We in this house have not been influenced in any way
by your morning friend that puts his foot in so many things of the kind.

MOMENTUM

By GEORGE MATHEW ADAMS

Momentum is Accumulated Force in action. Accumulate Momentum and in its possession at some critical moment
in your life you will rise to a glorious Foresight and Acumen.

You can never accumulate Momentum by standing still.

If you fail to take hold upon every possible chance that is offered you you fall in that measure to gather up and put aside accumulated Experience

which goes to make up Momentum.

You can never accumulate Moment-

Momentum is power saved up for

To-morrow. But if you waste the Opportunities of To-day your Moment-

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

In the second siege of Louisbourg, General Amherst's third brigadier, James Wolfe, now seems the most conspicuous figure amongst the English officers. It was he who led the party which in spite of the heavy surf and hot fire from the enemy, first got ashore at Freshwater Cove in Gabarus Bay. It was he also, who on this day one hundred and fifty-five years ago, marched at the head of twelve hundred men six or seven miles around the harbor and took possession of the harbor.

by the French at Light House Point. Upon this the French, grievously pressed on the landward side and fearing that the English fleet under Boscawen might enter the harbor and bombard the town, caused several large vessels to be sunk at the entrance to protect their fortifications. But despite this precaution several of the French ships were burned at last on a dark night. Six hundred British were rowed in and captured the remaining two. Three days later Louisbourg capitulated.

The Oregon treaty, between Great Britain and the United States, was signed sixty-seven years ago to-day. The Puget Sound region and the lower valley of the Columbia were awarded to the United States, but the British kept Vancouver Island. The forty-ninth parallel was accepted by both countries as the boundary line. The United States had claimed the entire Pacific coast region up to Russian Alaska, and had made this claim the basis of war threats, with "fifty-four, forty, or fight," as a battle-cry. Although Uncle Sam did not gain all he sought by the treaty of June 12, 1846, he did get a wide stretch of valuable territory which was British by right of the discoveries of Vancouver, Capt. Cook and other explorers. It had been held for the Crown, however, only by the vague lease of the Hudson's Bay Company. The American people were keenly alive to the value of this territory, and they had a shrewd representative in Daniel Webster. Lord Ashburton, the English treaty commissioner, looked upon the country in dispute as worthless, and so assured the House of Commons.

Hon. Sydney Arthur Fisher, minister of agriculture in the Laurier cabinet, was born in Montreal sixty-three years ago to-day. Beginning his career as a farmer in the Eastern Townships of Quebec, he entered the Canadian parliament in 1882, and became minister of agriculture in 1896.

The Equal Rights Association, a Protestant organization under the parliamentary leadership of D'Alton McCarthy, was formed at a convention held in Toronto 24 years ago to-day.

backs of burros; through dense tropic fastnesses, where the temperature often reaches 130 degrees; risking the deadly stings and bites of poisonous insects and snakes; scaling mountains that tower 18,000 feet—all this to obtain a collection of rare South American birds—such is the devotion to science of Frank Michler Chapman, ornithological curator of the American Museum of Natural History. Dr. Chapman is a native of New Jersey, and was born forty-nine years ago to-day. He has devoted his life to the study of birds, and in his quest has visited all the wildest regions of North and South America.

James Oliver Curwood, novelist and explorer, was born at Owosso, Mich., thirty-five years ago to-day, and was a member of the editorial staff of the Detroit News-Tribune before he became famous as a writer of stories dealing with the trackless wastes of the Canadian North. For years Mr. Curwood has spent several months of each year in the Hudson Bay wilderness, penetrating as far north as the sixtieth degree. He has been employed by the Dominion government as an exploratory and descriptive writer, and on these expeditions has found the material for his powerful and authoritative novels. The author of "The Flower of the North" believes that a great future is in store for the Hudson Bay region. Coal, gold and iron will be discovered in vast quantities, he firmly believes, when the railroad has opened up the northern country. In the future he sees another Pittsburgh on the shores of Hudson Bay—a great steel manufacturing city that will have not only a rich store of ore and fuel, but will possess the advantage of being hundreds of miles nearer to Europe than any other American industrial city.

day, this being the sixty-second anniversary of his birth. Sir Oliver is one of the few great scientists who entertain a faith in immortality, although his views on that interesting subject are hardly in accord with orthodox Christianity. He inclines to a belief that there is some basis of fact in the idea of pre-existence—not an obvious truth, and one to be set forth in a formula, but a truth that defies accurate description, and is not to be identified with the popular notion of reincarnation. Sir Oliver's views on the questions that confront humanity, as expressed in "Modern Problems," are interesting and thought-provoking. He sees society just barely emerging from the stage of ruthless and savage competition. War he regards as not only monstrous, but irrational. The whole competitive commercial system he considers barbarous. He holds that "many kinds of competition, so far from benefiting us, or increasing our wealth, are among the curses of civilization, and that substantial progress will be impossible till they are got rid of." Sir Oliver would substitute some sort of co-operation or socialism for the present system, but on this point he is not very clear. He points out what the trained, scientific mind would suggest as a substitute for competition, but adds, "That society should allow itself to be ridden by a monopolist only shows that society is an ass." For all that, he has hopes for us. With the growth of the trust movement, continuing until industry is concentrated into the hands of one group, humanity will become aroused. "When an abuse has only one neck it is not difficult to deal with."

Although to some extent a socialist, Sir Oliver does not march in the Marxian procession. He wears no tag or label of party or creed. He is a man without superstitions, and is as ready to criticize the "superstitions of science" as any others.

Mary St. Lager Harrison, daughter of Charles Kingsley, poet and novelist, has been asked to assist in the arrangements for the celebration of the Kingsley centenary, which will take place six years from to-day, June 12, 1813. Mrs. Harrison is herself a distinguished writer, using the nom de plume of Lucas Malet. "The Wages of Sin" and "Sir Richard Calmady" are among the novels that have made her internationally famous. Her latest effort, "Damaris Verity," is considered by many critics to be also her best, which is very high praise. Her husband, a clergyman, died some sixteen years ago. "Hypatia" and "Westward Ho," the principal works of Mrs. Harrison's distinguished father, are still widely read in both England and America, and already rank among the books that are "not for a day, but for all time."

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

"Society is an ass," declares Sir Oliver Joseph Lodge, the great English scientist. This is only a polite way of saying that in Sir Oliver's opinion, which is not without weight, we, as social units, are related to the Jacks. And yet Sir Oliver is so amiable, charitable and hopeful in his expression of unflattering estimates of humanity that one readily forgives him, and is even inclined to admit the truth of his accusations. The eminent savant will receive the congratulations of his colleagues of the British Association 40-

First Things

The first railway in Japan was formally opened forty-one years ago to-day, the Mikado and prominent officials taking part in the ceremonies. The introduction of this method of transportation was viewed with superstitious awe by the ignorant populace, but their fear and wonder soon gave way to a general recognition of the value of the innovation. During the following twenty years all Nippon was grided with steel rails. Japan now has a total of about 5,000 miles of railways, built at a cost of about $200,000,000, or about $40,000 per mile. This is much less than the average cost of railways in America and Europe, and more than a third less than the cost of construction of the railroads of the United States and Canada. Within the last decade there has been great improvement in Japanese railways, and travel in that country has been rendered as comfortable, and almost as luxurious, as in America and Europe.

WINSBY AND RAND TO STAND TRIAL

Committed to Higher Courts
by Police Magistrate After Preliminary Hearing

COUNCILLOR QUICK TELLS TRANSACTION

Swears Winsby Attempted to Bribe Him by Giving Note
for Five Thousand Dollars

Herbert P. Winsby, real estate agent, was this morning committed for trial on a charge of having attempted to bribe Councillor Frederick G. Quick, of Saanich, to vote in favor of an asphaltic concrete pavement. Frederick D. Rand, cashier of the Canadian Mineral Rubber Paving Company, was also committed, the charge in his case being that he had aided and abetted Winsby in the commission of the alleged attempt to bribe.

The preliminary hearing of the two cases took place this forenoon before Magistrate Jay in the police court, where J. A. Alkman, solicitor for the municipality, acted for the prosecution, brought at the instance of Chief Constable Little, and the accused were defended by H. A. Maclean, K. C. The defence reserved their case.

Councillor Quick was called as the first witness. On May 30, he said, H. P. Winsby called on him at his home, where he was painting. Standing below the veranda Winsby had asked him if there could be nothing done as to changing the vote on the paving system.

When Mr. Alkman proceeded to ask what this vote was Mr. Maclean objected that as a matter of record this vote must be proved by the municipal clerk from the minutes. Mr. Alkman undertook to do this later and the evidence was allowed.

Councillor Quick said that on the Tuesday before there had been a meeting of the council in committee at which two reports from the works committee were made. The first was adopted and to the second an amendment was moved by Councillor Dunn and seconded by himself, which was that they wanted bitulthic. Winsby was there and also Rand, he said.

"What followed upon Mr. Winsby asking me if nothing could be done to change this vote?" Mr. Alkman asked.

"I told Winsby I didn't feel like opening up the question again. Winsby then said: 'Well, there is $5,000 in this for you?' I said: 'Mr. Winsby, cut that out. There is nothing doing, not with me.' I said: 'You have come to the wrong man. I have never done anything like that before and don't intend to start now.' I advised him to leave it alone but he would not do it; stayed around and kept talking about it; wanted me to come down off the veranda and said: 'Come over here.' He invited me to come over to his place; 'everyone is getting their bit,' he said. He went so far as to incriminate his own lawyers. I thought it was time I went down and saw what was in this.

"Winsby didn't wait for me to come down but went into the front room. He again told me there was $5,000 in this for me to change my vote. I said: 'Nothing doing.' He said: 'The others all got their little bit; you might as well have yours. Everybody does it.' He said: 'It is done every day; that is where I make my money—these pickings on the side. You might as well make your little bit.' Winsby, I have enough without it; better leave it alone."

"He went on as to how he would pay this money. Of course, it could not be paid in cash; he would give me a note. I said I wanted neither. He said: 'Rand could not sign a note, being with the C. M. R., but I will do it for him. You can take it to Rand or the company's office and ask if Winsby's note for $5,000 is good, or to the lawyers; they act for both of us.' Winsby kept on, and I made up my mind to take steps to stop the whole thing. I told him it was a serious thing he was putting over on me, and I could not tell him what I was going to do; I wanted time and would tell him Monday noon. He said 'All right,' and left. On Monday morning, June 2, at 9 o'clock, I drove to Reeve Nicholson's office and reported the matter to him, and then drove into town. I told Winsby that anything he had to do in the matter must be at my house, and he came out there on Tuesday afternoon, June 3.

"I was still painting the house when he came along, and I said: 'How do you do?' Winsby was very nervous, and started to talk baseball; why was I not at the game that day? I said I hadn't the time, and he said everybody was at the baseball game. We went into the front room, and Winsby sat down and renewed the subject. I said I didn't feel like doing it, and had not made inquiry. He said they would take a chance. Then I said: 'Do you know Rand was out to see me last night?' He said: 'Yes, Rand came out to give you pointers as to the arguments you should make when the question comes up.' I said: 'Rand wanted me to go to Vancouver to see some of these work there.' Winsby said: 'That is all out. I saw Rand this morning. After the vote is taken, and the specifications are in shape, Rand is going to take the whole council over. I know Joe (Reeve Nicholson) will turn it over. You will go with George McGregor and you must stick close to him over there.

"I said: 'Winsby, let us understand this thoroughly. Who is going to move that and second it?' He said: 'George McGregor was going to do it but a doubt has arisen as to this being impossible technically. Anyhow, if he don't either Williams or Borden will do it. You will neither have to move nor second; you won't even have to speak to it. You will simply have to hold up your hand when the vote is taken.' After that the conversation lagged for a while and Winsby said: 'There will be other pickings for you, that is, other little chances for graft.'

"That is the meaning you took from what he said," Mr. Alkman asked.

"Yes," he said. "There is a chance to buy gravel and rock propositions and sell them to the company." I said: 'Winsby, you know very well that as a councillor I could not do any scheme like that. He said: 'That is all right; you can do it through others.' I said: 'I suppose, Winsby, you will be willing to act for me in deals like that?' He said: 'Certainly.'

"Then, he said: 'I suppose there is nothing now to do but to come through with the note?' I said: 'I suppose so.' He said: 'I have not brought the note out with me; a printed form with me.' I said: 'It does not need a printed form, a note of that kind.' He said: 'I have not seen Rand as to the time for the note.' I said: 'Winsby, ninety days ought to give them lots of time.' He asked then for pen and paper, I got the materials from a writing desk and gave him a pen and a writing pad. He wrote out a note for five thousand dollars."

A note was put in and was identified by Councillor Quick as the paper written out by Winsby and handed to him. It reads as follows:

Saanich, Royal Oak, 3rd June, 1913.

"Ninety days after date hereof I promise to pay to Frederick G. Quick the sum of $5,000 at the Royal Bank of Canada, Victoria branch, for value received."

"H. P. WINSBY."

"Was anything else done?" asked Mr. Alkman.

"Before he signed that note he tore a sheet off the blotter and started to write something else. He wrote half a page of the blotter and then read it to me."

A document was put in and identified by the witness. It read:

Saanich, Royal Oak, 3rd June, 1913.

"In consideration of the sum of $5,000 I, Frederick G. Quick, undertake to vote for a motion to change the present bitulthic specifications now before the Saanich council to open tenders for an asphaltic concrete. Should such a motion be void or not carried, the note given me by H. P. Winsby is to be returned unpaid."

"F. G. QUICK."

"When you had signed that what took place?"

"We exchanged papers. I put the note in my pocket and called in the chief of police and gave Winsby in charge."

"Where was Chief Little?"

"He was sitting in the side bedroom, about twelve feet from me."

In cross-examination by Mr. Maclean, the witness said that the matter of pavement was before the council for six weeks or so. The matter of bitulthic was first brought before the council by the agents of that pavement, among them F. Shillue. The revee and himself had talked over paving at last election, and they agreed that no pavement should be laid in Saanich until all types of pavement had been examined. In April Reeve Nicholson asked him if he would be willing to go to Seattle, Portland and other places at his own expense to investigate the different types of pavement. He said he would do it. Reeve Nicholson, Councillors Dunn and Verder and himself started about April 20 on this trip. On the boat they met Shillue and S. P. Moody, both of whom went to Portland and the other cities with him. They stopped at the same hotel. Shillue showed them around, went on every trip they did and bought a dinner or two for them. All came back together.

At this time there had been a paving-by-law passed, but nothing specified as to the type of pavement. After the return from this trip a motion was made by him for the adoption of a standard bitulthic pavement. This was changed afterwards to standard pavement. Witness was asked several questions as to the votes taken in committee up to the time it was decided to throw the tenders open. He remembered going into the Royal Oak hotel with Moody and saw Winsby there. He did not know whether or not Shillue was in an inner room.

Mr. Maclean—When Moody went out did you say to Winsby: 'Now you have got what you wanted; it is wide open?'

Councillor Quick—"No; I said: 'They are wide open for everyone to tender.'"

At the council meeting, next day, May 27, he voted to cut out alternative tenders and in favor of calling tenders for bitulthic surface. The vote was: For, Dunn, Quick, Verder and the revee; against, Williams, Borden and McGregor. At a previous meeting of the works committee he had refrained from voting because he saw they all wanted other pavements, but on that occasion he remarked that it was foolish to call for tenders for a wooden house when you wanted a brick one.

Mr. Maclean suggested that witness led Winsby to believe he was accepting the bribe, but witness rejected this indignantly.

Mr. Maclean—"You know this note was not worth the paper it was written on in a court?"

Mr. Quick—"I knew that, but I knew, too, that they would come through on it in the end."

Mr. Maclean—"It would be highly unreasonable for Winsby to think you were being bribed? You were both acting?"

Mr. Quick—"I think Winsby has been there before."

Mr. Maclean—"You never were bribed before?"

Mr. Quick—"Never," and added: "And never was offered one before."

Mr. Maclean—"Then it was just a bit of acting as if you were being bribed?"

Mr. Quick—"Acting for the benefit of the public."

Chief Constable Hugh Little told of the conversation he had overheard between Councillor Quick and the accused, while he was sitting in a bedroom off the parlor. Winsby had spoken of Rand being out the evening before, and Mr. Quick had said Rand proposed taking them over to Vancouver to see pavements. Winsby had said: "I will put that out of his head; it would not look well before the meeting. We will arrange to go over after the specifications are opened, and you stick to George McGregor and we will look after the others." Mr. Quick then had asked who would propose the amendment. Winsby had said they thought of George McGregor, but there was some technicality preventing that, and they thought of getting Williams or Borden. He had assured Mr. Quick he would not have to do anything but hold up his hand, and had also told him: "You are the only one that has not got any pickings out of this affair."

Chief Little went on to describe the conversation regarding the signing of the note. Winsby had told the councillor that the C. M. R. (Canadian Mineral Rubber Co.) would be good for the note, and that he could satisfy himself as to that by going to the company's office. A rustling of paper followed, and when the witness had entered the parlor to arrest Winsby he had taken a paper signed by Mr. Quick from him. Mr. Quick had handed him a note signed by Winsby. Both of those documents he identified.

The magistrate considered that, as a prima facie case had been made out by the prosecution, and after giving the accused the usual warning and being informed that he had nothing to say at this time, committed him for trial.

Rand was then called to the table and the case against him entered upon. The evidence was largely a repetition of that given in the Winsby case, the first witness called in the case being Councillor Andrew Dunn.

Councillor Dunn, who was able to say that he had not missed a council meeting in two years, testified that he knew Rand as an official of the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company, and he had seen him at the council meetings in company with Winsby.

Councillor Quick gave evidence as to Rand on June 2, discussing the merits of paving with him, and telling him other bitulthic paving firms had "fallen down." Rand proposed taking him to Vancouver to look at what the company had done there. The next morning Winsby called to give him the note.

"What took place as to Rand at that time?" Mr. Alkman asked.

"I asked Winsby: 'Who is going to pay this note?' He said: 'Mr. Rand.' I said: 'Is there any possibility that he won't pay?' I said: 'I could not expect you to pay.' He said: 'Absolutely none whatever. Rand will come through with the money, and he guaranteed that because they had the same lawyers, the both of them. He said: 'They don't throw me down.'"

"Who dare not?"

"Rand and the lawyers, I suppose he meant."

Chief Little told the court that he had seen Rand and Winsby together at the council meeting of April 27, and repeated what he had heard in Mr. Quick's house as to Rand being given by Winsby as the man who would meet the note.

Mr. Maclean submitted to the court that no case had been made out which would warrant the commitment of his client. There was no evidence, he contended, that Rand knew anything about the affair, nor to connect Winsby with him in any way.

Mr. Alkman replied that there was strong evidence connecting the two. Winsby was in the paving business, yet he went to Quick and gave him a note for a sum which he could not be expected to pay. He told Quick that Rand would pay the note; told him he could go to Rand or the C. M. R. and find out that it was all right, and he and Rand were seen together when paving matters were being discussed by the council. There was, too, the fact that Rand visited Quick the night before Winsby gave the note.

Magistrate Jay held that in this case as well as the other, there was a prima facie case for the accused to meet in the higher court, and he committed.

As the matter of bail lay with a judge of the county court or the supreme court the two accused had to remain in the custody of Chief Constable Little until this formality could be arranged.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson sat in his office in the naval yard this morning, and received all sorts and conditions of business men and parties interested in the expedition. Before him was an imposing array of documents and correspondence needing his attention.

"I have only a few minutes I can spare to you," he said to the Times' man, "What can I do for you?"

"Perhaps," suggested the interviewer, "you can give us some idea of when the expedition will start from Victoria."

"The exact date has not been decided," answered the explorer. "But it will be within a very few days. The men will sign on to-morrow. There will be the usual government conditions attached to the signing-on form, and a few special ones such as are usual in an Arctic expedition."

"We have definitely decided to take the inland passage up the coast, because the vessel will be heavy laden, and it will be safer. All food that we consume on the way will be replenished at Nome, so that the vessel will be stocked just the same when we leave the Alaskan port as at present."

"The reason for your journey is to discover what lies in the at present unknown regions of the Arctic. Is it not?"

"That is one of the reasons," he corrected. "As a matter of fact this expedition is really a comprehensive scientific voyage of discovery. Some of the newspapers have quite a way of saying that there is a land in the polar regions which has not been discovered, and that I am going to discover it. As a matter of fact I do not know of any such thing. I know that there is a great undiscovered region, but whether or not there is land, I cannot say until I get there. It is up to me to find out what there is there. If there is land, I will naturally explore it. If there is only water, then I shall take soundings and acquire all the information possible on the extent and limits of it."

Two Albernis in Unity Over Mails

Inauguration Celebration Held Yesterday in Island Town With Many Guests

Port Alberni, June 12.—The two Albernis, yesterday united with Victoria and other Island communities in celebrating the inauguration of a daily mail service between the Capital and twin municipalities on the canal, and more than two hundred people arrived in a special train conducted under the auspices of the Vancouver Island Development League, including the president and other officials of the Victoria board of trade, prominent members of the Vancouver Island Development League and the Progressive Club and well known representatives of business.

Blonde Eskimos.

"Do you not intend," asked the interviewer, "to reveal your old friends, the blonde Eskimos?"

"Not on this occasion," replied the explorer with a smile. "Dr. Anderson will establish his base in the region where they live, and will come in contact with them. My road will be to the north."

"There has been," he added, "a lot of nonsense talked about these blonde Eskimos. Many people have the idea that I first discovered them. As a matter of fact this is not so, for the blonde Eskimos were described by Sir John Franklin, who saw one during his expedition down Coppermine river in 1825. His party were pursuing some Eskimo when they came upon one of their number, an old man, whose age had caused him to lag behind. Wait, I think that I can give you the very description that Sir John Franklin uses. This is how it goes."

Mr. Stefansson then recited Franklin's description as follows: "This man's countenance was nothing very different from that of a European unless it be in a narrowness of the forehead and a smallness of the eyes. He had a fresh red complexion, and an abundant beard of over three inches long, more abundant than I have ever seen on any aborigine of America."

"Later on," continued Mr. Stefansson, "in 1887, Mr. Simpson, of the Dease-Simpson expedition visited the same people, and remarks how he saw one man who looked like a Scandinavian."

"As a matter of fact discoveries are often made without the people of that age taking much notice of them. Franklin and Simpson saw blonde Eskimos, and did not consider the sight at all extraordinary. They did not guess it was a discovery. For my own part I knew that an Eskimo had no right to look like a Scandinavian, and therefore I investigated."

The Southern Expedition.

The explorer stated that the southern party under Dr. Anderson would in all probability stay in the south and continue their work round the place where they established their base. As things were at present Mr. Anderson would not go north to meet him, but they were making their plans from day to day, and it was impossible before an expedition to sit down and write out exactly what they were going to do.

With regard to the foodstuffs on the journey the explorer had something interesting to say.

"There will be practically no canned goods," he said in answer to a question. "Canned goods are too heavy, and so our stores of food consist mostly of cereals. For fresh meat the members of the party will use their guns and we also hope to catch a whale."

PRICES ARE STRONG

WITH BOTH MARKETS
Trading Was Heavy and Buying Consistent All Day at New York

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
New York, June 12.—A change in sentiment was manifest to-day. In spite of lower London quotations following the severe slump late yesterday, prices opened in both markets strong with a continual rising tendency. The trading was heavy and buying was consistent all day. The rally in the list was the most pronounced in months, averaging from two to nine points, shorts being heavy covered.
Banks which have been holding the rates on money at high figures to build up their reserves, are making concessions and apparently are willing to make loans.
The Coppers were active, but this was due largely to the scarcity of offerings. Europe's buying of C. P. R. was largely responsible for an eight-point gain in that issue.

ON STOCK EXCHANGE
Smelter Stock Firm; Buying Orders Apparent in Red Cliff and Glacier

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
Victoria, June 12.—Issues were well supported on the local stock exchange this morning, advances being noticeable throughout the list, particularly in those that have depreciated recently. Canada Consolidated Smelter was very firm, and eastern offerings are light.
Granby was stronger, selling well at 55 in Boston because of the support accorded. Buying orders for Glacier and Red Cliff are evidenced by active bidding from day to day, and there was no slackening in demand to-day.

DRY WEATHER LED TO STRONG MARKET

Wheat at Winnipeg Opened Half Cent Advance for July and October

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
Winnipeg, June 12.—Dry weather led to a strong market in all lines. Wheat opened on a half cent advance for both July and October, and during the course of trade July reached the dollar mark.
Oats and flax were firm and made advances. The cash demand is dull, with offerings fairly heavy. An advance in Liverpool is a little more encouraging as regards export business. Receipts were moderate, being 367 cars inspected and 350 in sight.

PASTORALIST TALKS ON EFFECT OF POLL

Change of Government in Australia Will Assist in Introduction of Capital

That the advent of a Liberal government to power in Australia will be welcomed as a relief from social reform experiments is the opinion of T. P. Chapman, a stock raiser of Young, New South Wales, who went out on the Niagara last evening from Victoria after completing a trip by easy stages through Canada.

Mr. Chapman expected that even with the narrow majority of the Liberal party the ministry would be able to carry on the business of the country, just as the McGowan administration had ruled his state for nearly two years on a majority of one. He stated that Hon. Nell Neilson, former minister of lands in that ministry, and how commissioner for New South Wales in America, was a former townsman of the speaker at Young, which is a typical country town about 200 miles from Sydney.

He said that after travelling for the past 15 months he found everywhere an inclination not to lend money to the Commonwealth government for socialistic experiments. This was undoubtedly crippling the development of the Commonwealth. Railway construction played such an important part now that money must be found, both for the transcontinental East-West railway, to link up Western Australia with the older states, and the more problematical scheme of a railway through the northern territory to South Australia. The difficulty of linking up the railway system of the country was due to the fact that the different states had varying gauges, but he felt in the long run the transfer must be made to the standard of New South Wales, where the usual gauge of 4 feet 8 1/2 inches prevailed.

He hoped that the accession of another party to power would result in fixed conditions, and a security which had been absent recently, in order that population and capital might flow into the country.

TEACHERS FROM EAST

Dr. Robinson Says Unqualified Teacher on City Staff; Asks About Night Classes.

Dr. Alexander Robinson, superintendent of education, was the author of several communications to the school board at its monthly meeting last night. He informed them that owing to the large influx of teachers from the East there would be an ample supply of duly certificated teachers for next fall and requested that in the meantime no applications for temporary certificates be made.

In another communication bearing on the same subject Dr. Robinson notified the board that Miss Alice O. Corry, who was reported as teaching in Pembroke Street school, was ineligible as her certificate had expired last December. Speaking generally from the practice of the board in the last ten months Dr. Robinson said it seemed to him that a teacher without a certificate had as much chance of getting employment in Victoria as one possessing a certificate. He asked the board to ascertain the facts in these cases.

It was explained by Chief Inspector Paul that this teacher was merely on temporarily in an emergency.

Dr. Robinson's third communication declared that for the two seasons he had been waiting for the board to take some steps regarding opening up night classes. He referred to the great need for them and said that if the board failed to take some immediate step the department would have to look elsewhere. Mrs. Jenkins proposed that Dr. Robinson be reminded that provision had been made in the estimates for opening such classes in October. This was carried.

Official notification that school would close on June 27, instead of June 30, was also received.

L'ALLIANCE FRANÇAISE.

Interesting Lecture on Versailles Given to Large Audience on Monday Evening.

The closing meeting of L'Alliance Française for the season was held on Monday evening at the Alexandra Club, one of the largest audiences on record being present. Mrs. O. Meredith Jones presided, and as a prelude to the formal programme of the evening the company enjoyed some piano-forte selections by Mrs. Gibson. After this Mrs. Sanderson-Monagan delivered a lecture on "Versailles," this being supplemented by a series of views and portraits which the lecturer briefly commented on as illustrative of the remarkable architectural features and famous personages involved in the theme, Master Walter Deayville operating the instrument.

The lecturer called attention to the close manner in which the history of Versailles is interwoven with the history of its founder, King Louis XIV., of whom she gave a short sketch, including that of his political tutor, Cardinal Mazarin, such court favorites as Madame de Montespan, Madame de Montespan and others. She also told the story of the wonderful Palace of Versailles, and described the beautiful gardens and pleasure grounds, pavilions and stables, which subsequently cost the nation more than one hundred and ninety million dollars.

Mrs. MacDonald Fahy gave several vocal selections in her best style during the evening, this being followed by the little French comedy, "C'est dans le Petit Journal," a playlet dealing with the amusing malentendu of a zealous French maid who dealt with a famous milliner's premiere and other visitors as thieves. Miss Baker as a visitor and Miss Pinqueneil as the maid were excellent, both in diction and acting, other characters being most creditably acted by Mrs. G. C. Johnson, Miss Sayward and Miss MacDonald. A little social conversation and light refreshments brought the last of these entertaining evenings to a close for the present season, the success of these entertainments reflecting creditably on Mrs. Meredith Jones, the secretary; Miss Lelser and others.

CUPID PLEADS CAUSE IN THE LAW COURTS

Japanese Bride Finds Lack of Parental Consent Bar to Wedding Until Judge Grants Order

Cupid has very little to do with courts and dry legal proceedings, but yesterday he appeared in supreme court chambers to plead a cause before Mr. Justice Morrison, and he won his suit. For a few minutes there was an air of romance thrown around the dingy court-room while the facts were laid before his lordship.

Miss Tsuruka Okano was the fair petitioner in the case, and she asked the court to allow her marriage with a countryman of hers, Ayanosuke Okano, no relative, Sheriff Richards is not a hard-hearted man, but he had refused to grant a marriage license to the parties on account of their age and the absence of parental consent. Being thus prevented by the law from carrying out the object with which she left Japan and came to Victoria on the Sanuki Maru, Miss Okano appealed from the law to the law, asking the court for a declaration that this proposed marriage would be a proper one.

as provided for in the Marriage Act. The bridegroom is a clerk in a store at Nanaimo and is nineteen years of age. He has the consent of his father to his marriage. The parents of the petitioner live in Hiroshima Ken, where she was born sixteen years and five months ago, and she has no relatives in this country to advise her or with authority to give a consent to her marriage with the man of her choice that will satisfy the legal requirements preliminary to the issue of a license.

Miss Okano assured the court in her affidavit that the bridegroom-elect was "well able to support your petitioner in the manner to which she has been accustomed," and other evidence was given the court as to his good character.

T. Kawata, as a friend of both parties and knowing the families, made affidavit that the marriage was a fit and proper one. His lordship told Mr. Miller, of Moresby & O'Reilly, who was acting for the petitioner, that he would gladly give her the order she needed to complete her happiness.

When Summer Stops the Swing

Most of us can remember the school lesson in the law of accumulated motion—momentum.

If you exert a pound of pressure against a man in a swing, you'll start him moving slowly "to and fro." If you continue to exert a pound of pressure against him every time the swing makes a trip, you'll soon have him going so high that he almost turns the whole circle. If you stop pushing, the momentum will die out and the swing come to rest at "dead centre."

Winning trade follows the same natural laws.

Advertisements are the force behind the swing of public favor. Each new advertisement increases the momentum. Finally, the accumulated force of these numerous impulses swings indifference to the buying point.

If you stop Advertising, you lose momentum.

The moral of which is:

Don't stop the business swing in Summer.
Keep adding the pounds of Advertising pressure.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognized Canadian advertising agency, or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 500 Lamson Building, Toronto. Regularly involves no obligation on your part—no write, if interested.
